Help Ellis' Daddy raise £100,000 to find a cure for Ellis

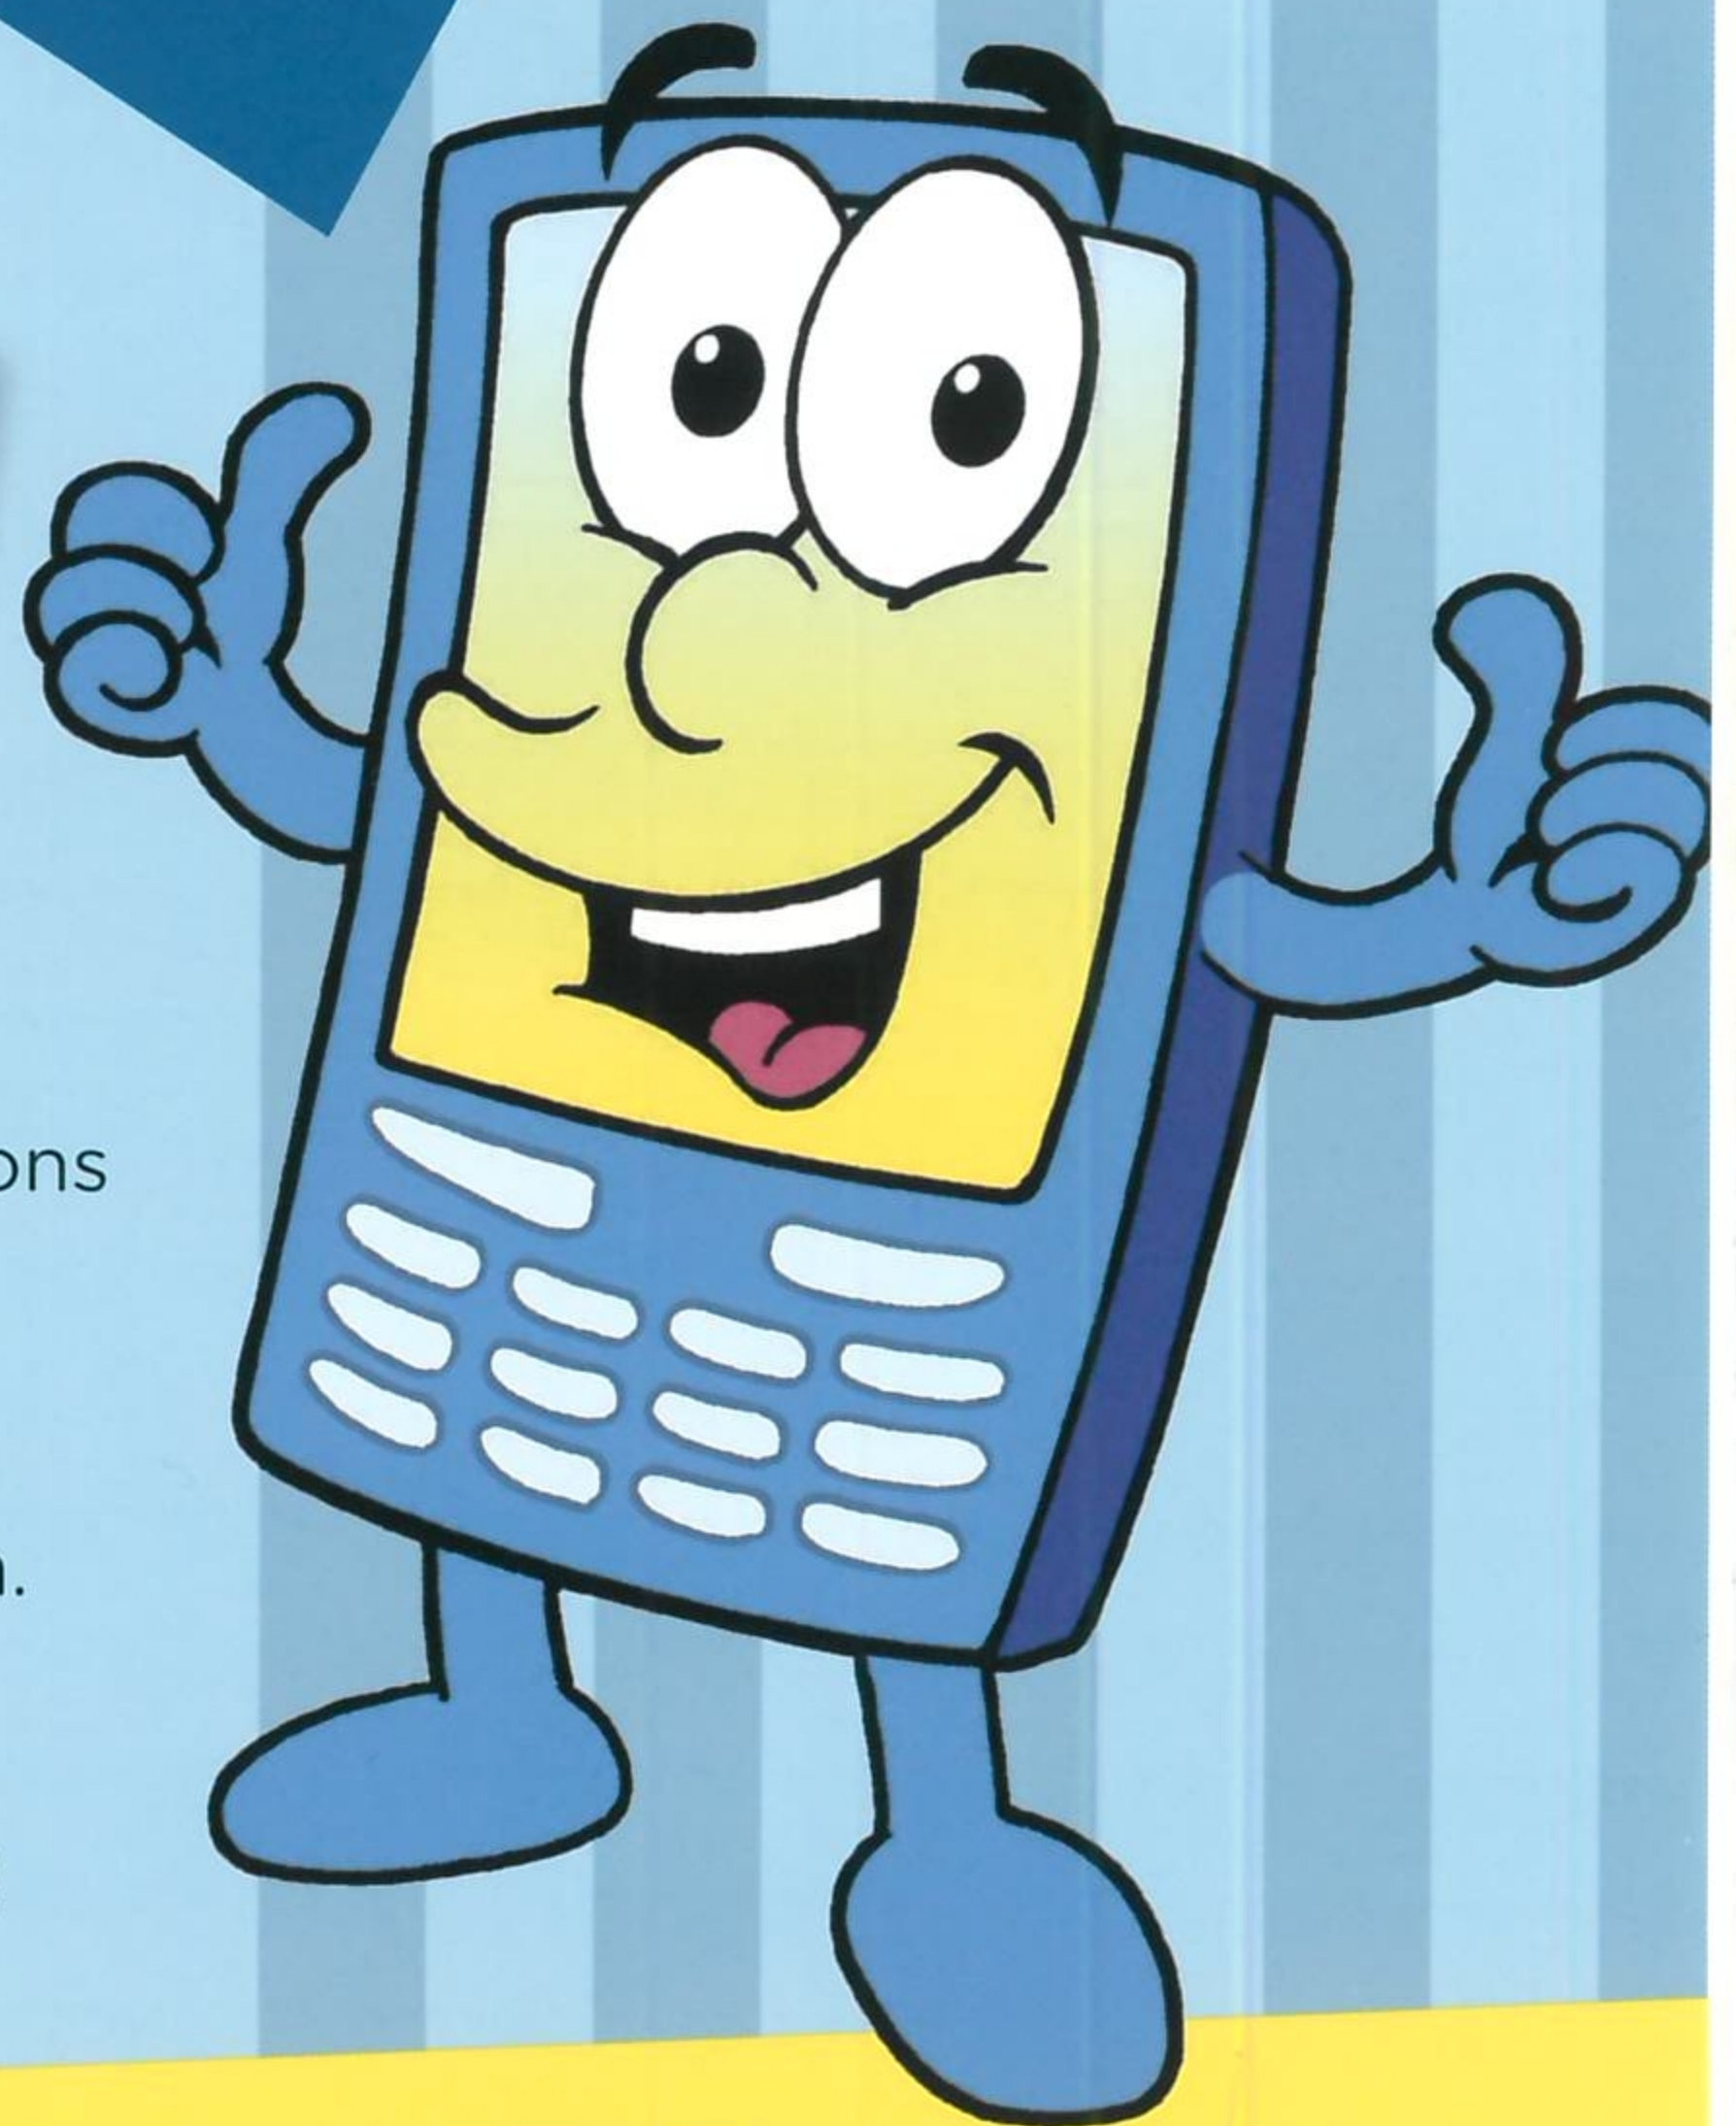

Richard Page is cycling 3,500 miles to all of Leicester City's Sky Bet Championship away games to raise money for his son, Ellis, who suffers from MECP2 Duplication Syndrome

The condition means that Ellis may never walk or talk, and suffers from chest infections and seizures, brought on by epilepsy.

Sky Bet, the title sponsor of the Football League, are backing Richard as he tries to raise £100,000 for the text“ellis” campaign.

With these funds, research can begin into finding a cure for Ellis, after an exciting breakthrough led to the reversal of MECP2 Duplication Syndrome in mice.

Hello and welcome to this afternoon's game, a crucial one for both Millwall and Bolton at the lower end of the Championship table.

The games are coming thick and fast once again, and Tuesday's draw with Yeovil Town sees us sitting three points outside the drop zone, making a win today crucial in our attempt to move clear of the bottom three.

Ed Upson, who joined the club from The Glovers on transfer deadline day, sat out this week's draw with his former club, but is in contention to make his home debut against Dougie Freedman's side here today. The midfielder is the subject of this afternoon's main feature, and speaks to The Lion about how he has settled in at The Den, the part Ian Holloway played in his switch, and much more.

Away from matters on the pitch, the latest regeneration update has made many headlines in the last couple of weeks, and Chairman John Berylson addresses the issue once more in our From the Boardroom page (11). As well, on pages 42 & 43, we look at Millwall's plans for the regeneration, which were presented to Lewisham Council last year, and explain how Lions fans can help by signing a petition put together by Fan on the Board Pete Garston, who this week sent a Valentine's Card to the Council urging them to reconsider the Club's plans (pictured).

Enjoy the game,

FROM THE MANAGER

We're now in the middle of an exciting period with three massive games against sides who, like ourselves, are battling hard to get away from the wrong end of the table.

Last weekend we were beaten by the best Burnley side I have played against, and there were aspects of our performance up there which were very encouraging.

We deservedly took the lead, and had we at least gone in at half-time level I felt we could have got something from the game.

We were well-organised, had a good shape about us and caused them one or two problems. But there was also a spell when we dropped a little too deep, and we have to learn to be a bit braver and get away from our goal.

To be fair, Burnley are playing with great confidence and Danny Ings' finishing is first class at the moment, and that was the difference.

Again on Tuesday night there were elements I was pleased with and others I wasn't.

The effort and work rate was first class again, but I felt we could have passed the ball a bit better in the first- half.

We conceded a goal because we went a bit too gung-ho looking for one of our own which we didn't need to do, and as a result we were overloaded.

PREVIOUSLY WE HAVE LOOKED MENTALLY WEAK WHEN WE HAVE GONE A GOAL DOWN, BUT AT YEOVIL WE SHOWED GOOD CHARACTER TO COME BACK AND GET OUR EQUALISER.

We are still very much a work in progress. We are working on a long term pattern and strategy where everyone knows what they're doing and sticks to the game plan throughout the 90 minutes.

I want us to pass and move and to be an attacking team. In midweek I set up with plenty of attacking players in the side, but they also have to learn to defend when we don't have the ball.

WHAT REALLY ENCOURAGES ME IS THE APPETITE THE PLAYERS ARE SHOWING TO LEARN AND TO GET BETTER. THERE IS STILL WORK TO BE DONE FITNESS WISE FOR SOME OF THEM, AND THEY ARE HAVING TO DO THAT IN IMPORTANT GAMES WHERE VITAL POINTS ARE AT STAKE.

After two long away trips, rest and recovery is a priority, and before picking my team for this afternoon's game I'll assess where everyone's fitness is.

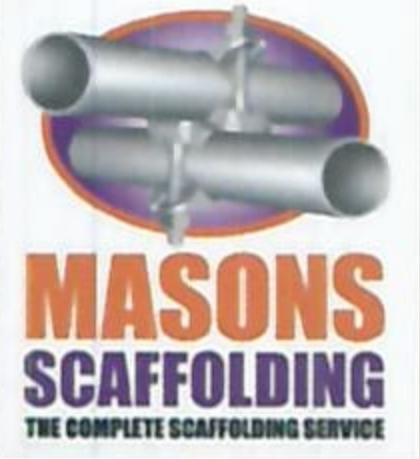

I'm delighted with the reaction I've seen from players who I've left out of the team in recent matches. I want to see everyone supporting the 11 who are selected for each game and we're getting that now. Every member of the squad has an important role to play and could be called on at any time.

Thanks once again for playing your part. I don't need to tell you what three points against Bolton today would mean to us, so when you see our players playing with genuine pride in the shirt and giving it a real go, please encourage them to keep doing it.

FROM THE CAPTAIN

The lads are eager to bounce back from a disappointing defeat last time out here against Reading with what would be a crucial three points against Bolton this afternoon.

We began well against Reading, played some good stuff, and were unlucky to concede just before half-time, I thought. In the second-half the manager made a few changes to try and win the game, which was the right thing to do and is in his nature, but unfortunately on this occasion it didn't quite come off.

BUT THE EFFORT, WORK RATE AND COMMITMENT WAS THERE THROUGHOUT, AND SOMETIMES IT JUST COMES DOWN TO BEING BEATEN BY THE BETTER SIDE ON THE DAY, WHICH READING PROBABLY WERE ON THAT OCCASION.

Then at Burnley we set the tempo of the game early on, and deserved to take the lead with a great goal from Wooly. Unfortunately we couldn't consolidate before half-time, which would have given us a great chance of going on to win the game. They responded so quickly, but if we had held it at 1-1 when we went in for the break the second-half might have been another story, with a different approach from us.

As it was, though, we had to chase the game, and Burnley's third, at a time when we were building some pressure on their goal, killed the game, but there were still plenty of positives to build on.

Tuesday's trip to Yeovil was a huge game for both sides, and we knew how tough a challenge it would be. Huish Park is a tough place to go, and Gary Johnson's side are honest, hard working, competitive and play to their strengths.

But the boys dug in, and those who came into the team, particularly Fordey, were excellent. He made some important saves for us, and to come from behind to secure a point showed good character, and kept some daylight between us and them, which was crucial.

That result will look better if we can earn a win against Bolton this afternoon. They are another side who are battling for Championship safety, and with home advantage, hopefully we can move a few points clear of the relegation zone and climb above Dougie Freedman's side in the process.

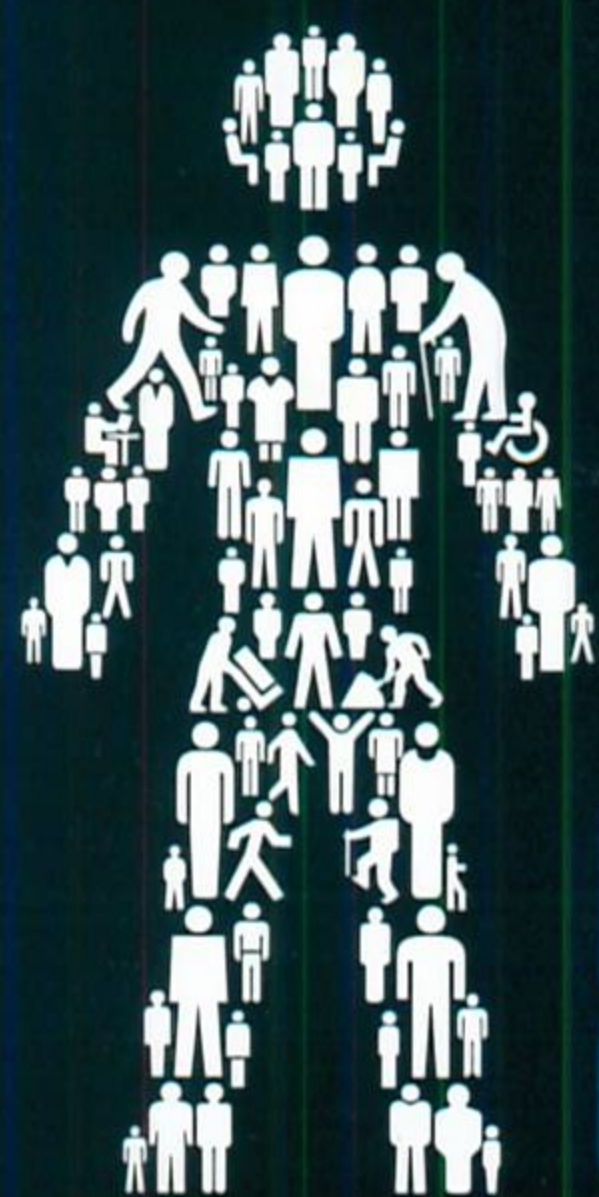

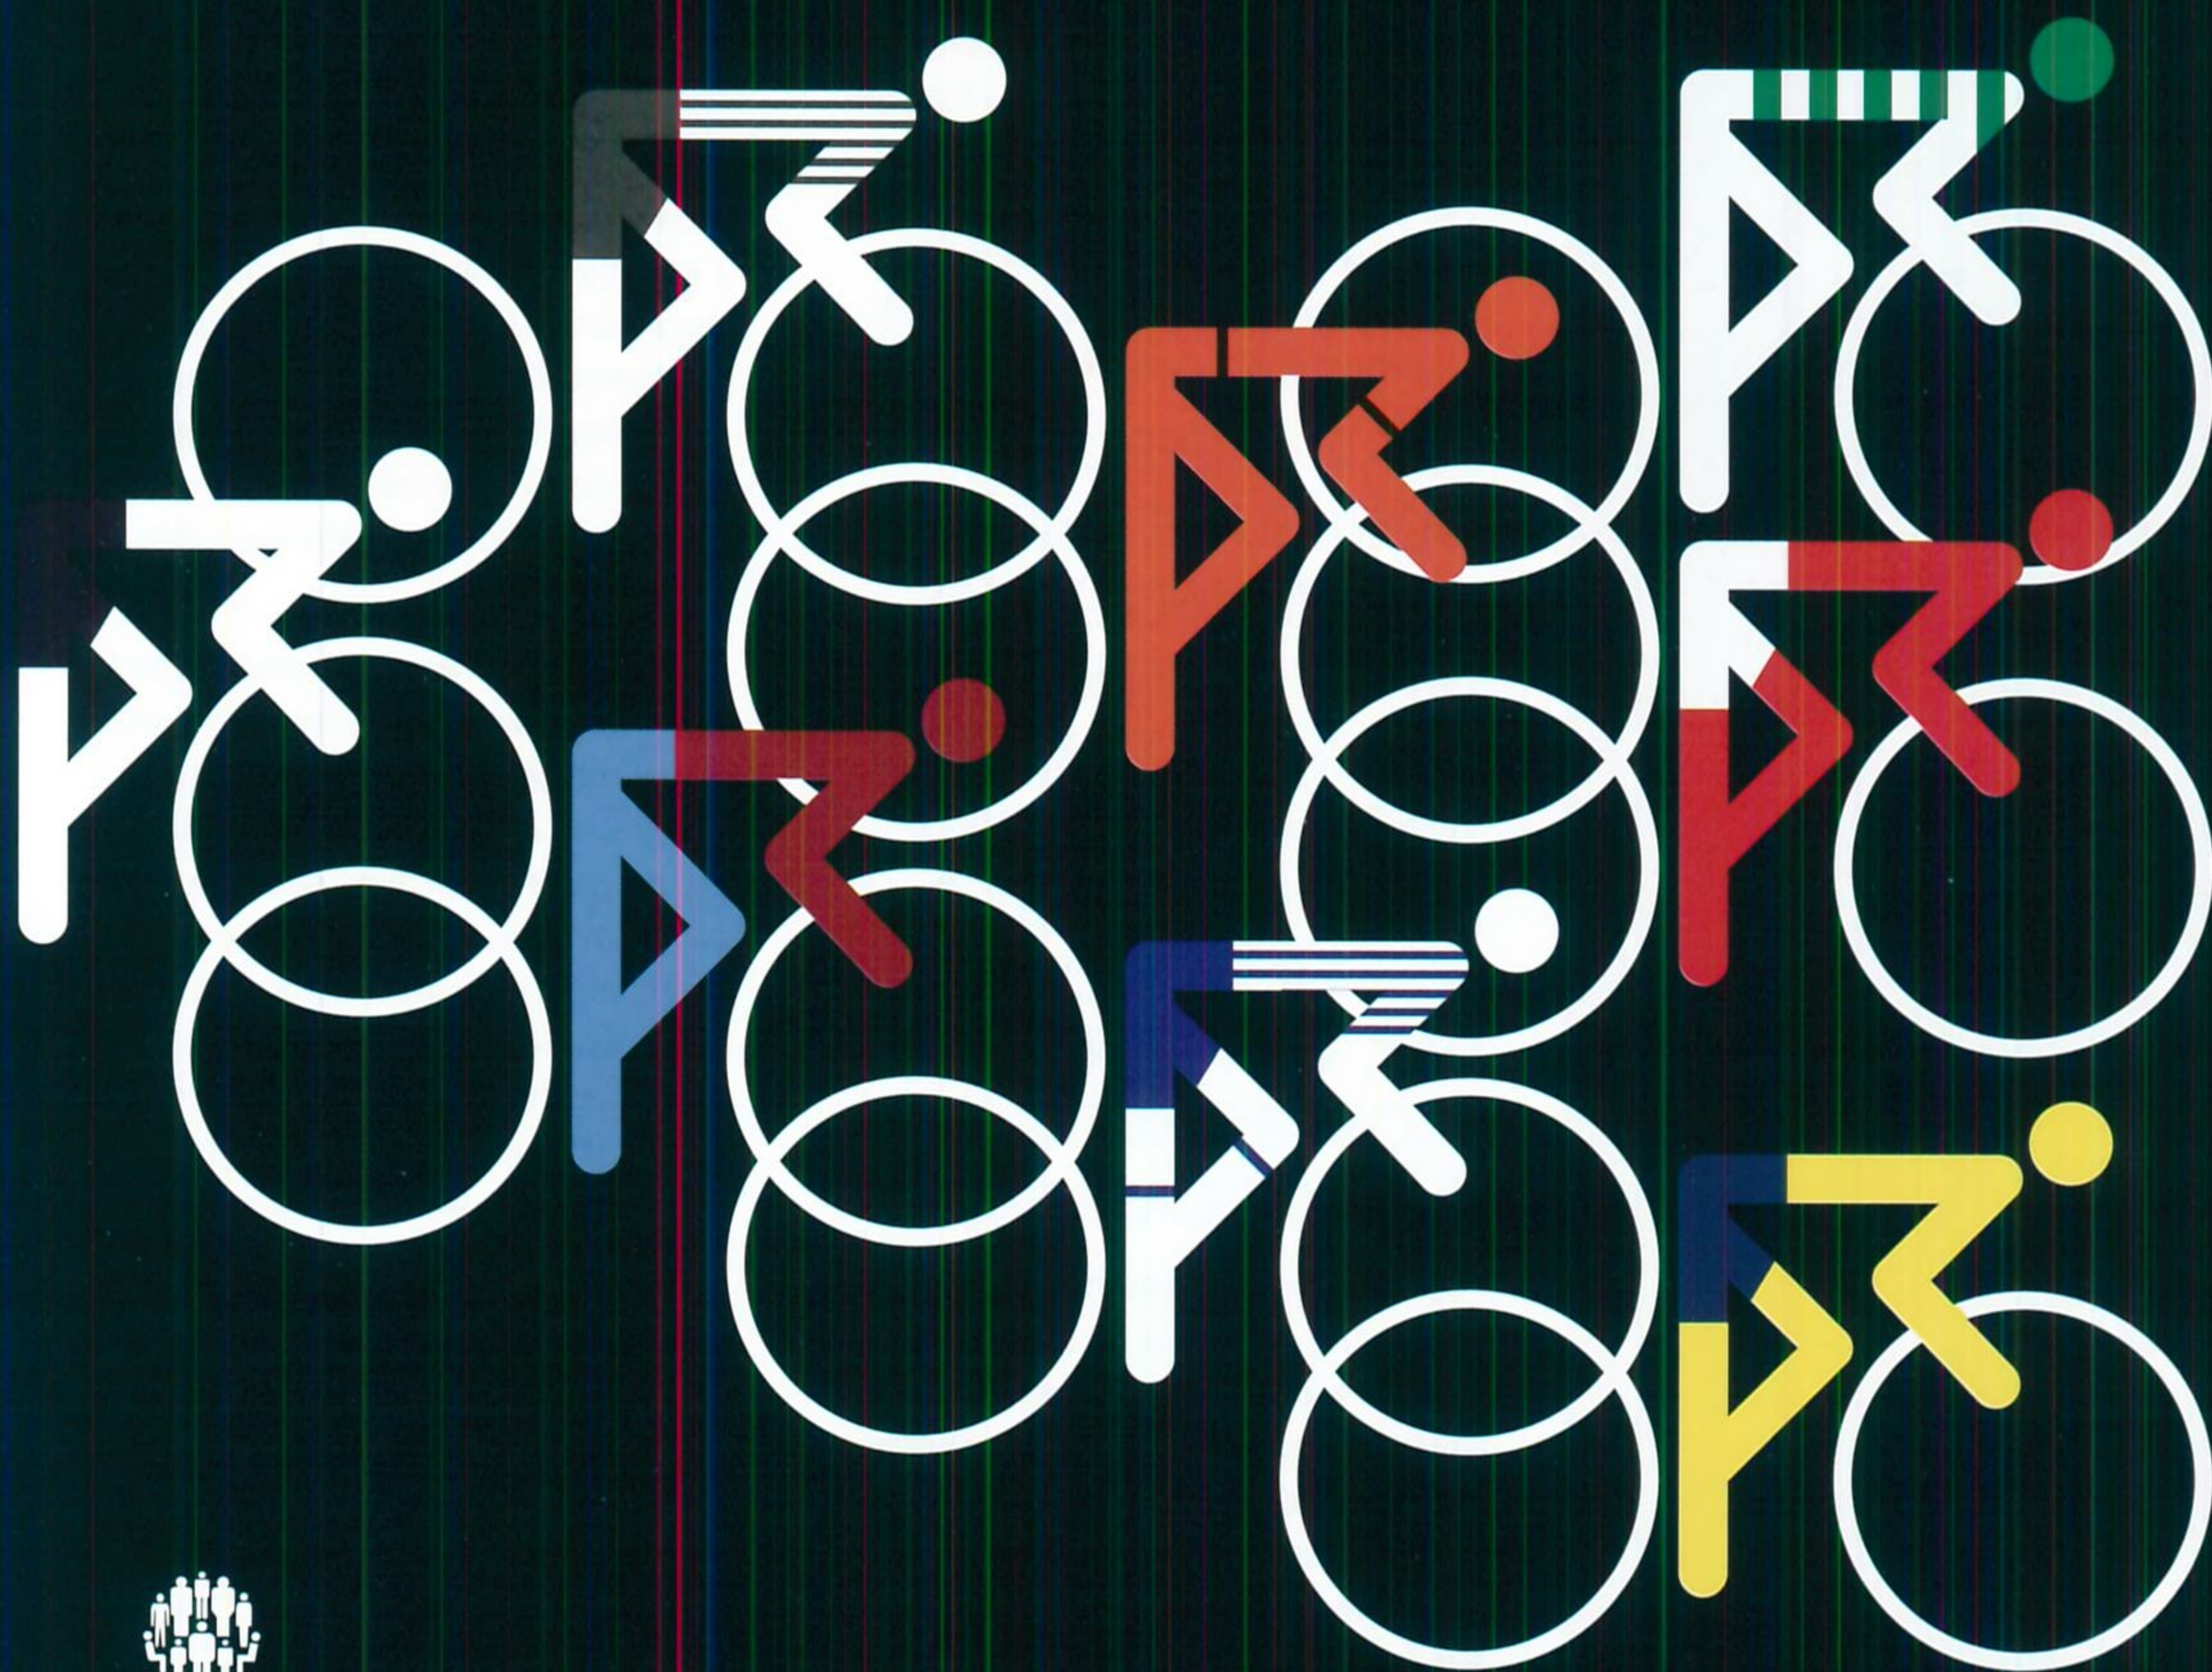

Every game between now and the end of the season is massive for us, but with a new manager and a handful of new players, we are in a period of transition at the moment. That being said, the lads are confident that we can improve week by week, and the squad are learning more about what the gaffer wants from us with every passing day. Development over the long-term is important for us, but over the short-term, we have to ensure that we earn enough points to maintain our League status before trying to progress and improve next season and beyond.

Enjoy the game,

From the Boardroom

WITH CHAIRMAN JOHN BERYLSON

We have been shocked and disappointed to find out that, despite our protests, Lewisham Council has taken steps to sell two parcels of land adjoining The Den which are currently leased to the Club. The Council is also intending to sell The Lions Centre next door to The Den which is occupied by the Millwall Community Scheme.

We are very concerned about the long term future of our community scheme. Although the Council and Renewal can match our offer of a new home and new sports facilities, only we can guarantee the financial support and access to the Football League funding on which it depends.

The three areas are to be sold to Renewal Limited, a private developer, as part of the Surrey Canal Triangle regeneration – despite Millwall's continual and firm expressions of interest to acquire and develop the land adjoining its stadium.

We are fans of the scheme to regenerate the Surrey Canal Triangle. We have supported it and we want to play our part in it. It has been suggested that we do not have the resources at our disposal to undertake these developments. That is simply not the case. Chestnut Hill Ventures, the largest shareholder in Millwall, has very considerable resources which are more than a match for a private property developer.

We also recognise the significant commercial opportunities that could transform our Club.

The long term survival of Millwall Football Club will depend on our ability to generate non-football revenues to help us through the inevitable ups and downs of life as a professional football club. Football is what we know, and football is what we do. The Deputy Mayor of Lewisham recently referred to us as property developers. I think he knows very well that we don't undertake property developments. Chestnut Hill Ventures has engaged a team of top professionals who have managed property developments of this size in order to strengthen the Club's finances.

Despite football being core to the Council's stated strategy for the Borough, Millwall Football Club has been repeatedly excluded from the regeneration project.

Early in 2013, Millwall engaged a top architect to develop a scheme to maintain the land required for the safe operation of the Club and to provide the opportunity for the generation of non-football income.

Our scheme is consistent with the overall plans for the development of the Surrey Canal Triangle. The Club's development plans were presented to the Council last August but they declined to consider them and we now learn that the Council never even showed them to Renewal.

Neither would the Council tell us what commercial terms they required for the purchase of the three areas of land around our stadium that are for sale.

John

The Club have revealed their plans for the regeneration of the local area, which can be seen on pages 42 and 43, where details of how Lions fans can help Millwall's cause by signing an official petition can also be seen.

Today's matchball sponsors, Cowen Parker MMTG, have waived the opportunity to place an advert in this afternoon's edition of The Lion, instead opting to wish John Berylson, Andy Ambler and the Board the best of luck in fighting Millwall's corner over the coming weeks and months in aiming to secure the club's financial stability with the regeneration of the Surrey Canal Triangle.

The Interview

ED UPSON

Ed Upson became Ian Holloway's fourth signing as Millwall manager when he put pen-to-paper on a two-and-a-half-year deal with The Lions just three hours before last month's transfer window was slammed shut.

His name was one already familiar to many Lions fans, most of whom will remember him as the heartbeat of the Yeovil side who came away from The Den with a 1-0 win on the opening day of the season, courtesy of the 24-year-old's late strike.

Ed's move to Millwall is the latest step in a career which started at Ipswich Town, his local club, where he rose through the ranks before signing a professional contract at Portman Road aged 17.

He was loaned to Stevenage in 2008 but featured just once, and a year later made his senior debut for The Tractor Boys, coming off the bench in a League Cup match against Shrewsbury.

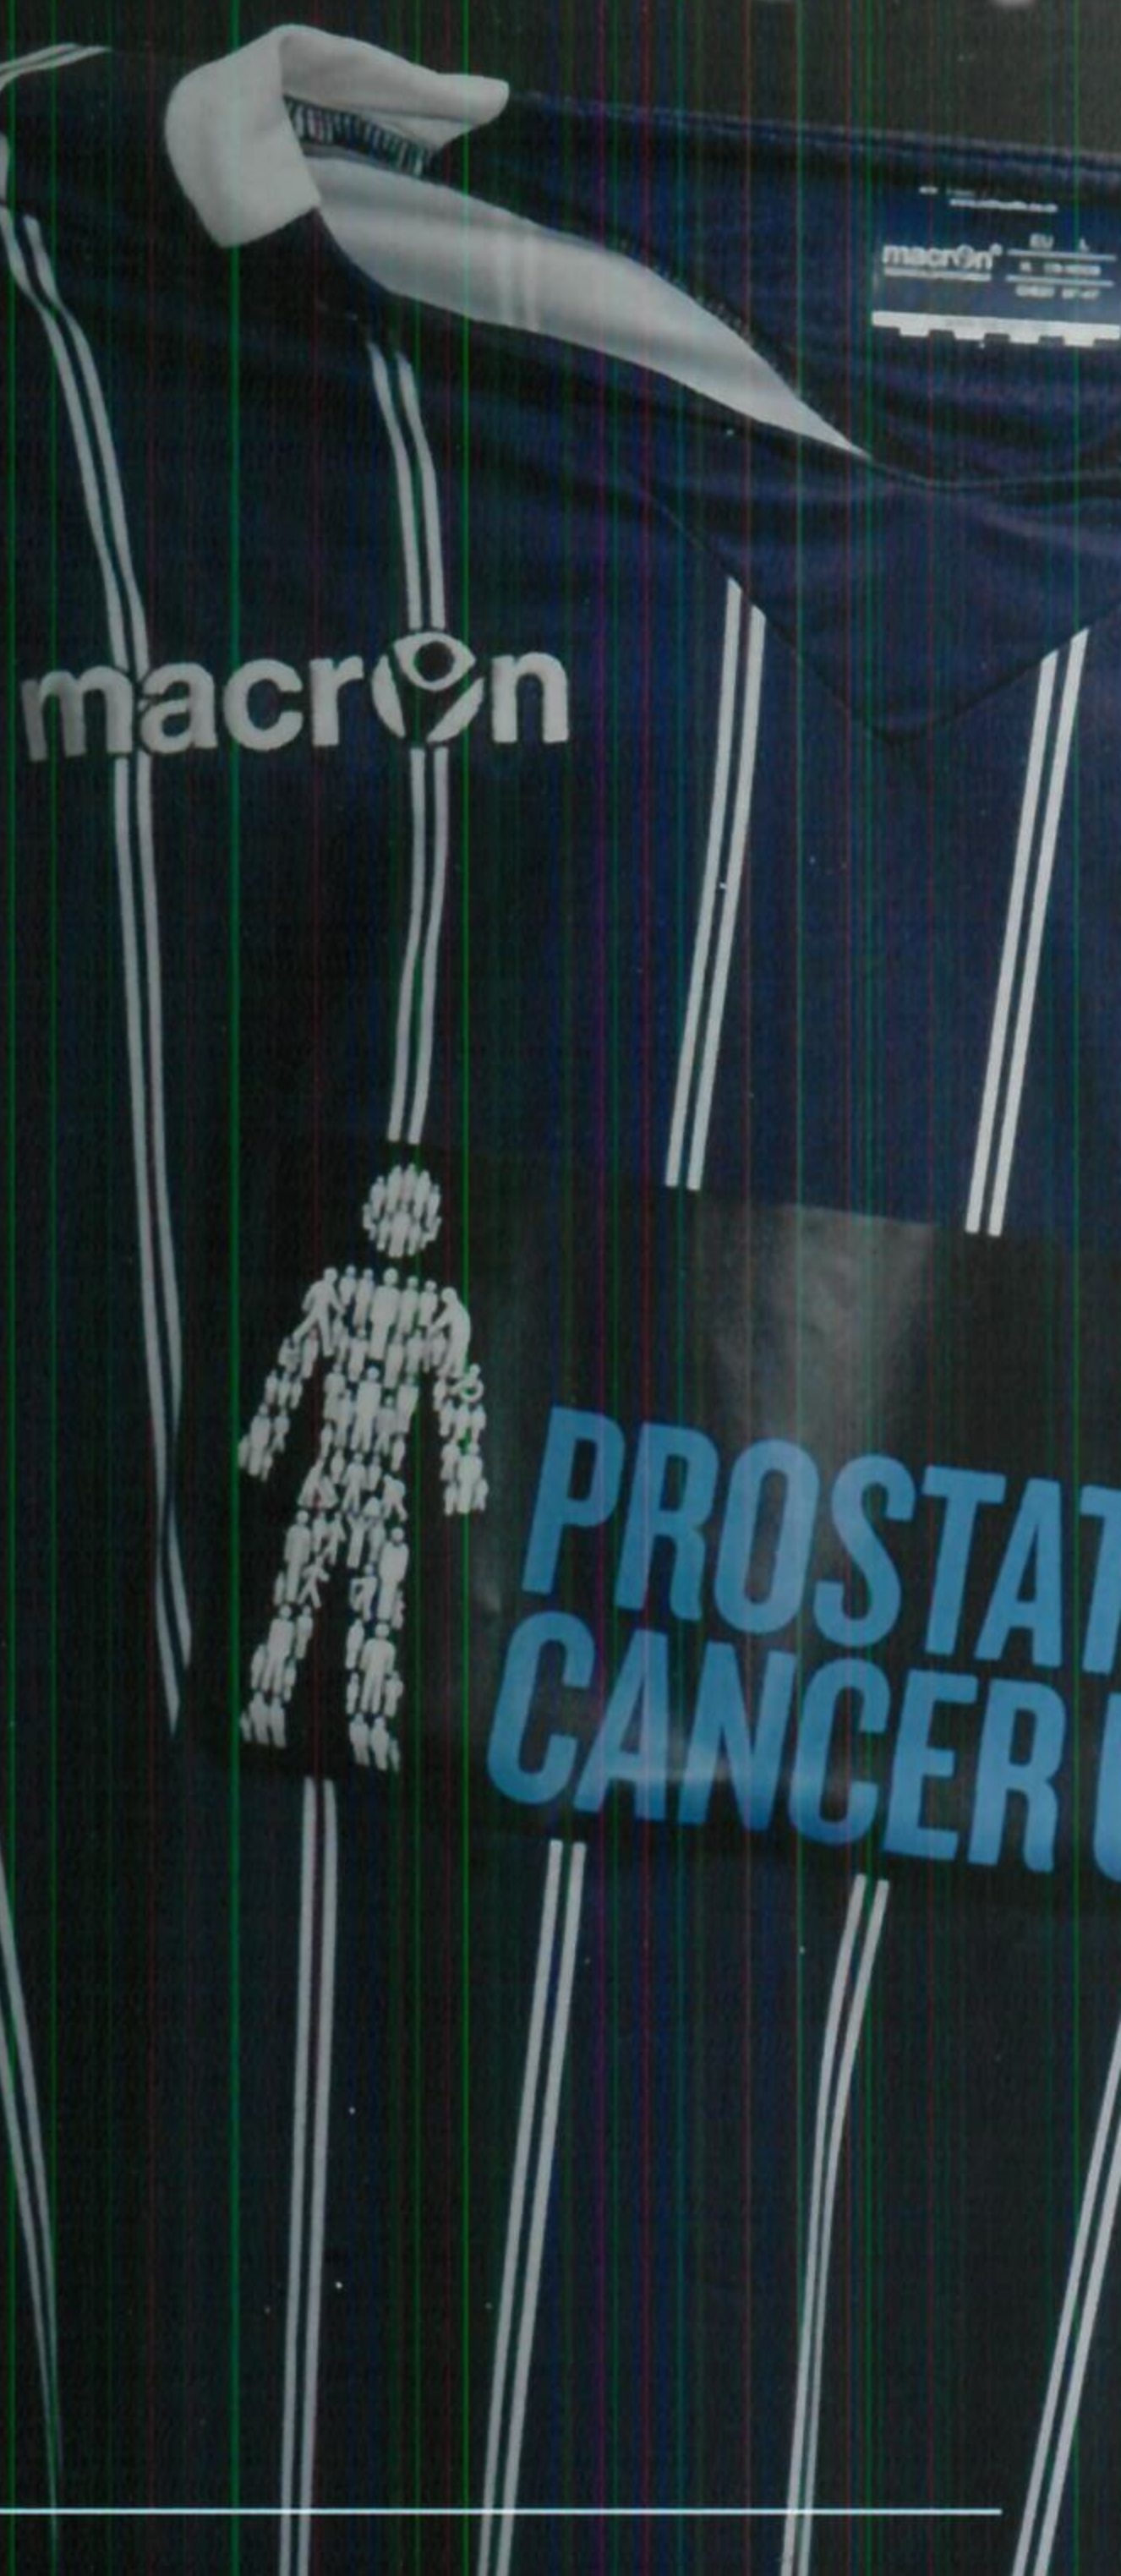

Then, in March 2010, Barnet took Ed on loan, but despite impressing in nine games for The Bees, a spell during which he scored his first senior goal, Ipswich released him at the end of the same season, leaving the door open for his move to Yeovil.

To his credit, Ed didn't let his departure from Portman Road trouble him, instead hitting the ground running with The Glovers from day one. The trust placed in him allowed the midfielder to flourish, and he soon formed a reputation as a talented passer of the ball with an eye for spectacular goals.

As Yeovil continued to progress, so did Ed, and he scored one of the most important goals in the club's history – an 85th minute aggregate winner against Sheffield United in last season's League One Play-Off Semi-Final – to secure their place in the Final where they beat Brentford 2-1 to earn their place in the Championship for the first time in The Glovers' history.

The step up provided Ed with a platform to impress further, and his goal at The Den was one of five in his 28 appearances for Gary Johnson's men before linking up with The Lions on deadline day. And despite a busy couple of weeks since the ink dried on his contract, Ed is settling in even better than he had imagined.

"At times it can be tough moving to a new club because you see a whole load of new faces, meet a new manager and are introduced to people you have never met before, but it's has been so easy for me to come to Millwall," he told The Lion.

"The lads have been really welcoming, as has the manager and his staff, and they have made it simple to settle down at the club.

"I knew a few of the lads before, the likes of Steve Morison and Josh Wright, who I've played against when we were in youth teams, and that has helped.

"From Yeovil it is a massive step up for me. Millwall are a big team, a famous name, and have passionate fans. It was a pleasure to play for Yeovil for so many years and to achieve so much there that was completely unexpected. But I'm always looking to progress, and this is the next step for me. It's been a fun couple of weeks and I'm really enjoying myself."

Part and parcel of arriving at a new club is football's well-known initiation, a song in front of your new team-mates when you travel on your first away trip. Fortunately for Ed, fellow new boys Shaun Williams and Simeon Jackson had the same task, too.

"I've done my initiation song, thank God. Shauny Williams, Simeon and I all had to sing on the away trip to Burnley. I went for 'Ain't No Mountain High Enough', which went down well, I thought. I'm glad there were two others instead of just me doing it.

"Shauny did the 'Fresh Prince of Bel Air' theme tune, which is a classic that always goes down well. It's always so nerve wracking because of how embarrassing and cringe worthy it can be, but you are much better off doing it than not."

Ed is in the process of moving home, a stressful time no matter what your line of work, but is not letting matters off the field affect his early career at The Den.

"You concentrate on football more than anything else, so that's my main focus, but behind-the-scenes there are so many different things you have to get in order.

"I'm obviously moving house so have been picking up all my stuff from Yeovil whilst searching for a new place to live in London, which is so exciting but difficult at the same time because you are so busy.

"My transfer meant one day I was playing for and living in Yeovil and the next I'm suddenly joining a new club and moving house - all within 24 hours. But you have to get organised and get on with it because the key thing is training and playing well for your new club."

Born in Bury St Edmunds, Suffolk, Ed's move to London ensures he is much closer to home than he was at Huish Park, and is relieved about saving his parents lengthy, tiring trips to watch him play.

"I couldn't have been much further away living in Yeovil, and it's always been in my mind to take a chance to move back closer to friends and family, which I've now done.

"My mum and dad used to drive down to watch me play home games for Yeovil, which was about a seven-hour 400-mile round trip. I'm pleased for them that they can save some mileage!

"It's just nice to be in a bigger place like London, where there is a lot more going on, and where you can do more interesting and exciting things. On top of that I can go home fairly regularly, which makes it perfect."

With new manager Ian Holloway making an impact on the squad since his arrival earlier in the month, Ed believes he has joined Millwall at an exciting time, admitting that Ollie, before they even conversed, played a huge part in his decision to make the move.

"THE GAFFER AND I FIRST SPOKE AT LENGTH AFTER I'D SIGNED MY CONTRACT, BUT WAY BEFORE THEN HE HAD MADE AN IMPACT ON MY DECISION. KNOWING ABOUT HIS CALIBRE AS A MANAGER, HIS REPUTATION AND WHAT HE HAS ACHIEVED IN THE GAME MADE THE MOVE EVEN MORE EXCITING."

"He has been there and done it, particularly in this League, and everybody I've spoken to who has worked with the manager had nothing but kind words for him. You always want to play for managers like that because they help your career by making you learn so much.

"I'VE DEFINITELY MADE THE RIGHT DECISION TO BE HERE, AND ONCE I SIGNED WE HAD A GREAT CHAT ABOUT WHERE HE WANTS TO TAKE THE CLUB AND ITS POTENTIAL. WE SHARE THE SAME AMBITIONS."

"He knows what I bring to the team and is looking for me to get on the ball, pass it, and try to score some goals. You have to work hard to get into the team, and even if you are not involved you still have to be there supporting the lads. The whole squad is enthusiastic about the future. I feel like I've joined the club at a really good time, with a new manager, some new players and a lot of energy around the place. It's an exciting period."

Ed is one of five new arrivals since Ollie has taken charge, and whilst early signs are promising, the midfielder believes it could be a while before The Lions are playing their best football.

"It does take time to bed in, learn new things and understand a fresh style of play. But the three of us – Shauny, Simeon and myself – have got to learn it quickly because we need results sooner rather than later to push the team up the table. Ryan (Fredericks) and DJ (Campbell) have been here slightly longer and are making an impact. Hopefully we can do that too."

Unable to feature against Reading, Ed had to wait a week to make his Millwall bow up at Turf Moor, and despite defeat believes he and his team-mates could take positives from the game.

"Making my debut was a proud moment, and I can't wait to play my first game for Millwall here, too. I enjoyed the game itself, but not the result.

"We played some good football at times but it will always be tough to go to Turf Moor and play a team as good as Burnley are at the moment, with a striker in Danny Ings who is banging in goals every week. But we held our own for long periods and could take a lot out of the game."

Then came Tuesday's trip to Huish Park. Ed, unable to feature because of a gentleman's agreement between the two clubs when he signed on deadline day, cheered on his new team-mates from the stands, but admits to finding the whole experience a little strange at times.

"It was nice to go back and get that out the way so early. Sometimes when you move to a new club you have to wait ages to return to your old one, so I'm pleased it is done and dusted.

"It was a shame I couldn't play because I would have loved to be involved. I enjoyed the game, but it was stressful watching it to be honest.

"It was weird because I'm sitting there in the away dressing room for the first time, wearing a full Millwall tracksuit when just over a week before it was a Yeovil one.

"Everybody around the club was nice to me and incredibly supportive about my move, but my focus was on Millwall and cheering the lads on throughout the game, hoping we would win.

"As for the result, I think they needed to win it more than we did, but it was an important game for us and we could have done with all three points. That being said, it could turn out to be a good point in the long run."

This afternoon's encounter with Bolton is another crucial one and The Lions head into kick-off knowing a win would see them leapfrog Dougie Freedman's men in the table. Should he feature, Ed is looking to make an immediate impression with the home supporters.

"I'm excited to get going again and looking forward to making my home debut, whenever that may be. I will give it my all.

"I probably owe the fans a goal or two after the one on the opening day of the season, but most importantly I want to get out there and try to show those who weren't at Burnley or who didn't see me play for Yeovil what I can do as quickly as possible."

LIONS Player

With 16 League games to go there are still plenty of Championship points to be won this season, but for The Lions there are also many miles to cover too!

In the past seven days, Ian Holloway's men travelled from one end of the country to the other as they made the trip to Burnley on Saturday before heading to the South West to face Yeovil Town just three days later. Lions Player had full match commentary from both Turf Moor and Huish Park, the thoughts of the Millwall boss after the final whistle and later, match highlights from both games.

The long journeys continue, with Millwall heading north again next weekend for a crucial game at Barnsley, followed by away trips to Derby, Blackpool (midweek), Leeds United, Nottingham Forest, Wigan Athletic (midweek) and Middlesbrough.

Not able to make them all? Don't miss out on the action if you can't.

Bolton Wanderers

TODAY'S VISITORS REVIEWED BY DAVID HALL

Despite being one of the favourites to bounce straight back into the Premier League after their final day relegation to the Championship in 2011/12, Bolton Wanderers spent the early part of last season struggling at the wrong end of the table, form which ultimately lead to Owen Coyle's departure from the Reebok Stadium just days after a 2-1 defeat to Millwall.

Dougie Freedman, overseeing Crystal Palace's fine start to the campaign, was appointed, and the move paid off as Freedman gradually took the side up the table, finishing just outside the Play-Off positions in 7th place on 68 points, the same as Leicester City, but with an inferior goal difference.

Looking for a sustained push for promotion this season, Freedman began to rebuild the side over the summer, dispensing with the likes of Kevin Davies, Marvin Sordell, Keith Andrews and Samuel Ricketts, and replacing them with Jermaine Beckford, Jay Sparring, Alex Baptiste, Marc Tierney and, more recently, Liam Trotter and Lukas Jutkiewicz.

However, as is often the case, things haven't gone to plan and The Trotters find themselves in another relegation battle.

After losing 1-0 to Burnley on Tuesday night, Bolton find themselves 19th in the table, just two places and two points above The Lions.

Although they beat Millwall 3-1 earlier in the season, historically things have gone the way of The Lions in games between the two sides, particularly here at The Den, where this afternoon's visitors have won just once and drawn once in their previous 15 League encounters, with the goal count 32 to eight in Millwall's favour.

With the battle to stay out of the relegation zone hotting up, today's game will be one that neither side will want to lose and should prove to be an exciting watch from the stands.

Dougie Freedman

THE MANAGER

Born in Glasgow, the former Crystal Palace player and manager began his playing career at QPR, but after failing to make an impact at Loftus Road joined Barnet, and 49 games later made his first of two moves to Selhurst Park.

Freedman played 99 games for The Eagles, scoring 34 goals, before joining Wolves and then Nottingham Forest ahead of a return to Palace, making over 250 appearances in his second spell at the club.

The Bolton boss hung up his boots after a short loan spell with Leeds United and a two-year stay at Southend United, retiring with a career total of 602 appearances and 190 goals.

His first taste of coaching was during his time as a player at Selhurst Park where he took over as reserve team manager in November 2007. He returned once his playing days came to an end, eventually taking over from George Burley as first team boss in January 2011, successfully guiding The Eagles away from the relegation zone in his first season in charge. Freedman moved to The Reebok in October 2012.

Age: 26

Recently regaining his place between the sticks from Andy Lonergan, 6'4" keeper Bogdan joined The Trotters in 2007 having played for Vasas in his hometown, Budapest.

After a loan spell with Crewe, he started to learn his trade as understudy to current West Ham goalkeeper, Jussi Jääskeläinen, replacing him briefly due to injury and then more permanently in 2012.

Bogdan's performances brought him to the attention of the Hungarian national coaching staff, and having already played on seven occasions for the U21 squad, he made his senior debut against Luxemburg in 2011 and has now established himself, winning 18 full caps.

Now closing in on 100 League appearances, Bogdan will hope that his return to the side helps him to reach that mark sooner rather than later.

Alex Baptiste

Position: Defender
Nationality: English
Age: 28

15

Solid, quick, and happy to turn defence into attack, Baptiste joined the club in the summer after being released by Blackpool for whom he made over 150 appearances.

Capable of playing anywhere across the back line, Baptiste began his professional career with Mansfield Town, from where he had loan spells with Tamworth and Burton Albion, and after over 150 games for The Stags, moved to Blackpool in 2008.

The defender has since played in two Championship Play-Off Finals, both under Lions boss Ian Holloway, and whilst not the tallest by defenders' standards, Baptiste is a threat at set-pieces, and has notched four goals so far this term.

After a successful loan spell last season, following which he was named Player of the Year by Bolton's fans, Freedman signed Jay Spearing on a permanent basis in the summer.

Apart from a short loan spell with Leicester City, the Wallasey-born midfield player had spent his whole playing career at Anfield before moving to The Reebok.

An England U21 international, Spearing is the heartbeat of Freedman's side, shielding the back four and dictating the tempo of the game.

Spearing has quickly racked up 68 appearances for The Trotters, and will be key as Freedman's men attempt climb up the table over the coming weeks.

Lukas Jutkiewicz

Moving to the Reebok in a loan move at the end of January from Middlesbrough, the Southampton-born striker has already got off the mark for his new side.

Having played over 40 games for Swindon, where he started his professional career, Jutkiewicz joined Everton but struggled to make an impact and had loan spells with Plymouth, Huddersfield and Motherwell.

He scored 12 goals in 36 games for the Scottish side, before Coventry signed him, where he scored 18 times in just under 70 games.

Jutkiewicz then joined Middlesbrough in January 2012, but has gradually slipped down the pecking order at the Riverside, allowing Freedman to swoop for his services last month.

Andy Lonergan

Position: Goalkeeper
Nationality: English
Age: 30

24

The Preston-born keeper started his career with his hometown club, playing over 200 times, before joining Leeds after loans with Darlington, Blackpool, Wycombe Wanderers and Swindon.

He scored a goal with a kick from his own penalty area in 2004 against Leicester in a game which ended 1-1 and has played for the Republic of Ireland U16 side and England U20s.

Neil Danns

Position: Midfielder
Nationality: English
Age: 31

18

On loan from Leicester until the end of the season, Danns has scored four times from his midfield position since joining the club in September, initially for three months.

As well as Bolton, Danns has had loan spells with Blackpool, Hartlepool, Colchester, Bristol City and Huddersfield, and has also worn the shirt of Crystal Palace and Birmingham.

Matt Mills

Position: Defender
Nationality: English
Age: 25

Central defender Mills joined from Leicester in 2012 and is a powerful presence at the heart of Bolton's defence.

Still just 25, Mills has made over 200 career appearances having also played for Southampton, Coventry, Bournemouth, Manchester City, Colchester, Doncaster and Reading. He has England caps at U18 and U19 levels.

Andre Moritz

Position: Midfielder
Nationality: Brazilian
Age: 27

14

Released by Crystal Palace last summer, Moritz's old manager swiftly moved to capture his signature and the attacking midfield player has scored five times so far this season.

As well as appearing for Internacional in Brazil, Moritz has played in Turkey with Kasimpaşa, Kayserispor and Mersin.

Tim Ream

Position: Defender
Nationality: American
Age: 26

The American international joined the club from MLS side New York Red Bulls, for whom he played over 50 times, in 2012, and made his debut for the club here at The Den in The Trotters' 2-0 FA Cup win. He is now coming up to 60 games with the club.

Zat Knight

Position: Defender
Nationality: English
Age: 33

12

The 6' 6" defender joined the club from Aston Villa and has also played for Fulham and Peterborough. Steady and strong both in the air and on the floor, the central defender has now made over 400 career appearances and his experience will no doubt prove vital to The Trotters between now and May.

Chris Eagles

Position: Midfielder
Nationality: English
Age: 28

A winger who likes nothing more than dribbling his way past players, Eagles joined the club from Burnley in 2011. Having made his debut for Manchester United, where he rose through the youth ranks, Eagles went on loan to Watford and Sheffield Wednesday, as well as a short spell with Dutch team NEC Nijmegen, before making close to 150 appearances at Turf Moor.

Chung-Yong Lee

Position: Midfielder
Nationality: South Korean
Age: 26

Versatile midfielder Lee joined Bolton in August 2009 from FC Seoul. He missed most of the 2011/12 season with a broken leg, which halted his impressive progress at the club. Since then, however, Lee has re-established himself as one of Bolton's most influential players, and has made 32 appearances already this season.

Mark Davies

Position: Midfielder
Nationality: English
Age: 25

16

Davies, who turns 26 early next week, joined from Wolves in 2009 and has now made over 100 appearances for the club. A player who likes to get forward, the talented midfielder also had a short spell with Leicester and has England caps at U16, U17 and U19 levels.

Robert Hall

Position: Striker
Nationality: English
Age: 20

11

Hall moved to the Reebok Stadium from West Ham in the summer. The pacey striker, who can also play out wide, had a loan spell with the club last season, and has also been on loan at Oxford United, MK Dons and Birmingham. Highly rated by the Bolton management, Hall will hope to continue his progression under Freedman's guidance.

On The Bench

Assistant manager: Lennie Lawrence

Lennis Lawrence was appointed as Dougie Freedman's assistant in November 2012. He had previously been the assistant to Freedman at Crystal Palace as the duo helped The Eagles avoid relegation in their first season in charge.

They enjoyed a memorable run to the League Cup Semi-Finals, overcoming Manchester United at Old Trafford along the way, before making a promising start to the 2012 season. Lawrence never played League football, but has managed a number of British clubs and is one of a select few managers to have managed over 1,000 games. He began his managerial career at Plymouth Argyle in 1978 as caretaker, before working as a coach at Lincoln City, helping them win promotion from Division Four in 1981.

Lawrence took over the reins at Charlton Athletic in 1982, and despite the club being in a poor financial situation, he managed to get The Addicks promoted to the First Division and kept them at this level for four years. He moved north to manage Middlesbrough in 1991 and guided them to promotion to the Premier League in his second season in charge, but left the club following relegation.

Lawrence would then enjoy spells at Bradford City and Luton Town, before making a return to management at the beginning of the 2000/1 season with Division One side Grimsby Town and orchestrated a League Cup upset by defeating holders Liverpool at Anfield.

After a short while out of the game, he took over at Division Two side Cardiff City in 2002 in his final managerial role to date, guiding them to promotion in his first full season. Lawrence has since enjoyed Director of Football roles at both Bristol Rovers and Hereford United before moving to Selhurst Park in 2011.

First team coach: Curtis Fleming

Freedman recruited Curtis Fleming to his backroom staff days after being appointed Trotters boss. Like Lawrence, the former Republic of Ireland international worked under Freedman at Crystal Palace after being promoted to first team coach in July 2012, and he aided in The Eagles' fine start to the 2012/13 Championship season.

Fleming moved into coaching after his retirement in 2005, joining Livingston as assistant manager before having a spell coaching at youth level at former club Middlesbrough. He would join Palace in 2011 as development coach under the then reserve team boss Freedman.

A successful playing career which saw the defender capped for Republic of Ireland at both U21 and full international levels began in 1987 at St Patrick's Athletic in Ireland. Fleming would make over 30 appearances, including playing in the European Cup and UEFA Cup, on his way to being named the FAI's U21 Player of the Year in November 1990.

The summer of 1991 saw Fleming move to England when he signed for Middlesbrough, initially playing under, ironically, Lawrence. He would appear in the 1997 and 1998 League Cup Finals as well as the FA Cup Final in 1997, which added to his 266 league appearances in his 10-year stay on Teesside.

A brief loan spell at Birmingham City in November 2001 was followed by a permanent switch to Palace the following month. During his time at Selhurst Park, Fleming was appointed club captain by manager Iain Dowie as the defender made 45 league appearances and helped The Eagles gain promotion to the Premier League via the Play-Offs in 2004. After two-and-a-half seasons in London, Curtis moved back to the north east with Darlington before officially retiring in 2005.

Latest from the MSC

WITH BOB ASPREY

Surrey Canal regeneration

As everybody is now undoubtedly aware, Lewisham Council has entered into an agreement to sell three areas of land, currently leased to the football club, to Renewal Limited, the property development company involved in the regeneration of the Surrey Canal area.

This sale denies the club the opportunity to develop its own commercial interests and secure its financial future. MSC's Fan on the Board, Pete Garston, has launched a petition at www.change.org/en-GB - search for 'Defend our Den'.

The MSC committee recommends that everybody signs this petition and asks all their football supporting friends to do so as well. This isn't just for Millwall supporters, but for all football fans; without the support of their local authority, the future of many a football club could be in danger. For the latest on this issue, head to millwallfc.co.uk and the MSC website, Lions Live Radio, which is online every Thursday from 7-9pm, and the official Twitter accounts @MillwallFC, @Official_MSC, @PeterGarston and @LionsLiveRadio.

Lions Live exclusive

The team recently announced a unique opportunity to design next season's MSC badge. The design must include next season's date, 2014-2015, together with the MSC name. Submit your designs to lionslive@hotmail.co.uk. We will announce the closing date nearer the time, so listen in to the show and keep an eye on our website for details. The MSC committee will vote for the winner and news of the decision will follow shortly after the deadline.

Lions Live Player of the Month Match Award

sponsored by Bexley Steel

The first vote of 2014, for January's Player of the Month, was a tight one, but was eventually won by reigning Player of the Season Danny Shittu. Rob Woodford was the winner drawn from the list of people who phoned in to Lions Live during the show to cast their vote. His prize was to make the presentation to Danny, and he did so with nephew Harvey Beretta.

Don't forget to listen in every Thursday from 7-9pm for more exclusive announcements and interviews. Call the show on 020 7237 9272, text 07895 022 325 or email lionslive@hotmail.co.uk. To listen, follow the link on the MSC website home page. You can listen live or download the podcasts of past shows by following the links in the Lions Live section of the website.

Blackpool away

As the club's League fixture with Blackpool next month is a midweek evening kick-off, there will be no coach trip, along with an overnight stay, organised by the MSC. This is due to a lack of demand, but coaches will still travel to Bloomfield Road from The Den as per any away game. Look out for exact coach details in due course on millwallfc.co.uk

The Fan's View

WITH MERV PAYNE

I can't look at the fixture Millwall v Bolton without thinking of a certain opposition player for The Trotters, and an eventful day at The Den back in May 1985.

Millwall's promotion push had reached the last four games of the season and nerves had begun to set in. Narrow wins at home to Cambridge, Bristol Rovers and Doncaster put The Lions in the third promotion position as they took on a Bolton side who were just a few points clear of the relegation places.

The big blow that day was the absence of influential captain Les Briley, and Millwall looked lost without the battling midfielder as one visiting striker crashed the party.

While Bolton were languishing in the lower half of Division Three, they weren't without goals as forward Tony Caldwell and his strike partner George Oghani amassed 38 between them that season. And it was Oghani, the first black player to pull on the white shirt of Wanderers, who would be The Lions tormentor that day.

The programme notes didn't exactly sing Oghani's praises: "...signed from non-league, earning himself another chance after John McGovern tried to sell him back to non-league in the Summer..."

Hardly a glowing reference, but the matchday programme back then wasn't a patch on the quality we're treated to these days!

By half-time, The Den was dumbstruck as two goals from livewire Oghani – sandwiching the then mandatory Steve Lovell goal – gave Bolton a 2-1 lead.

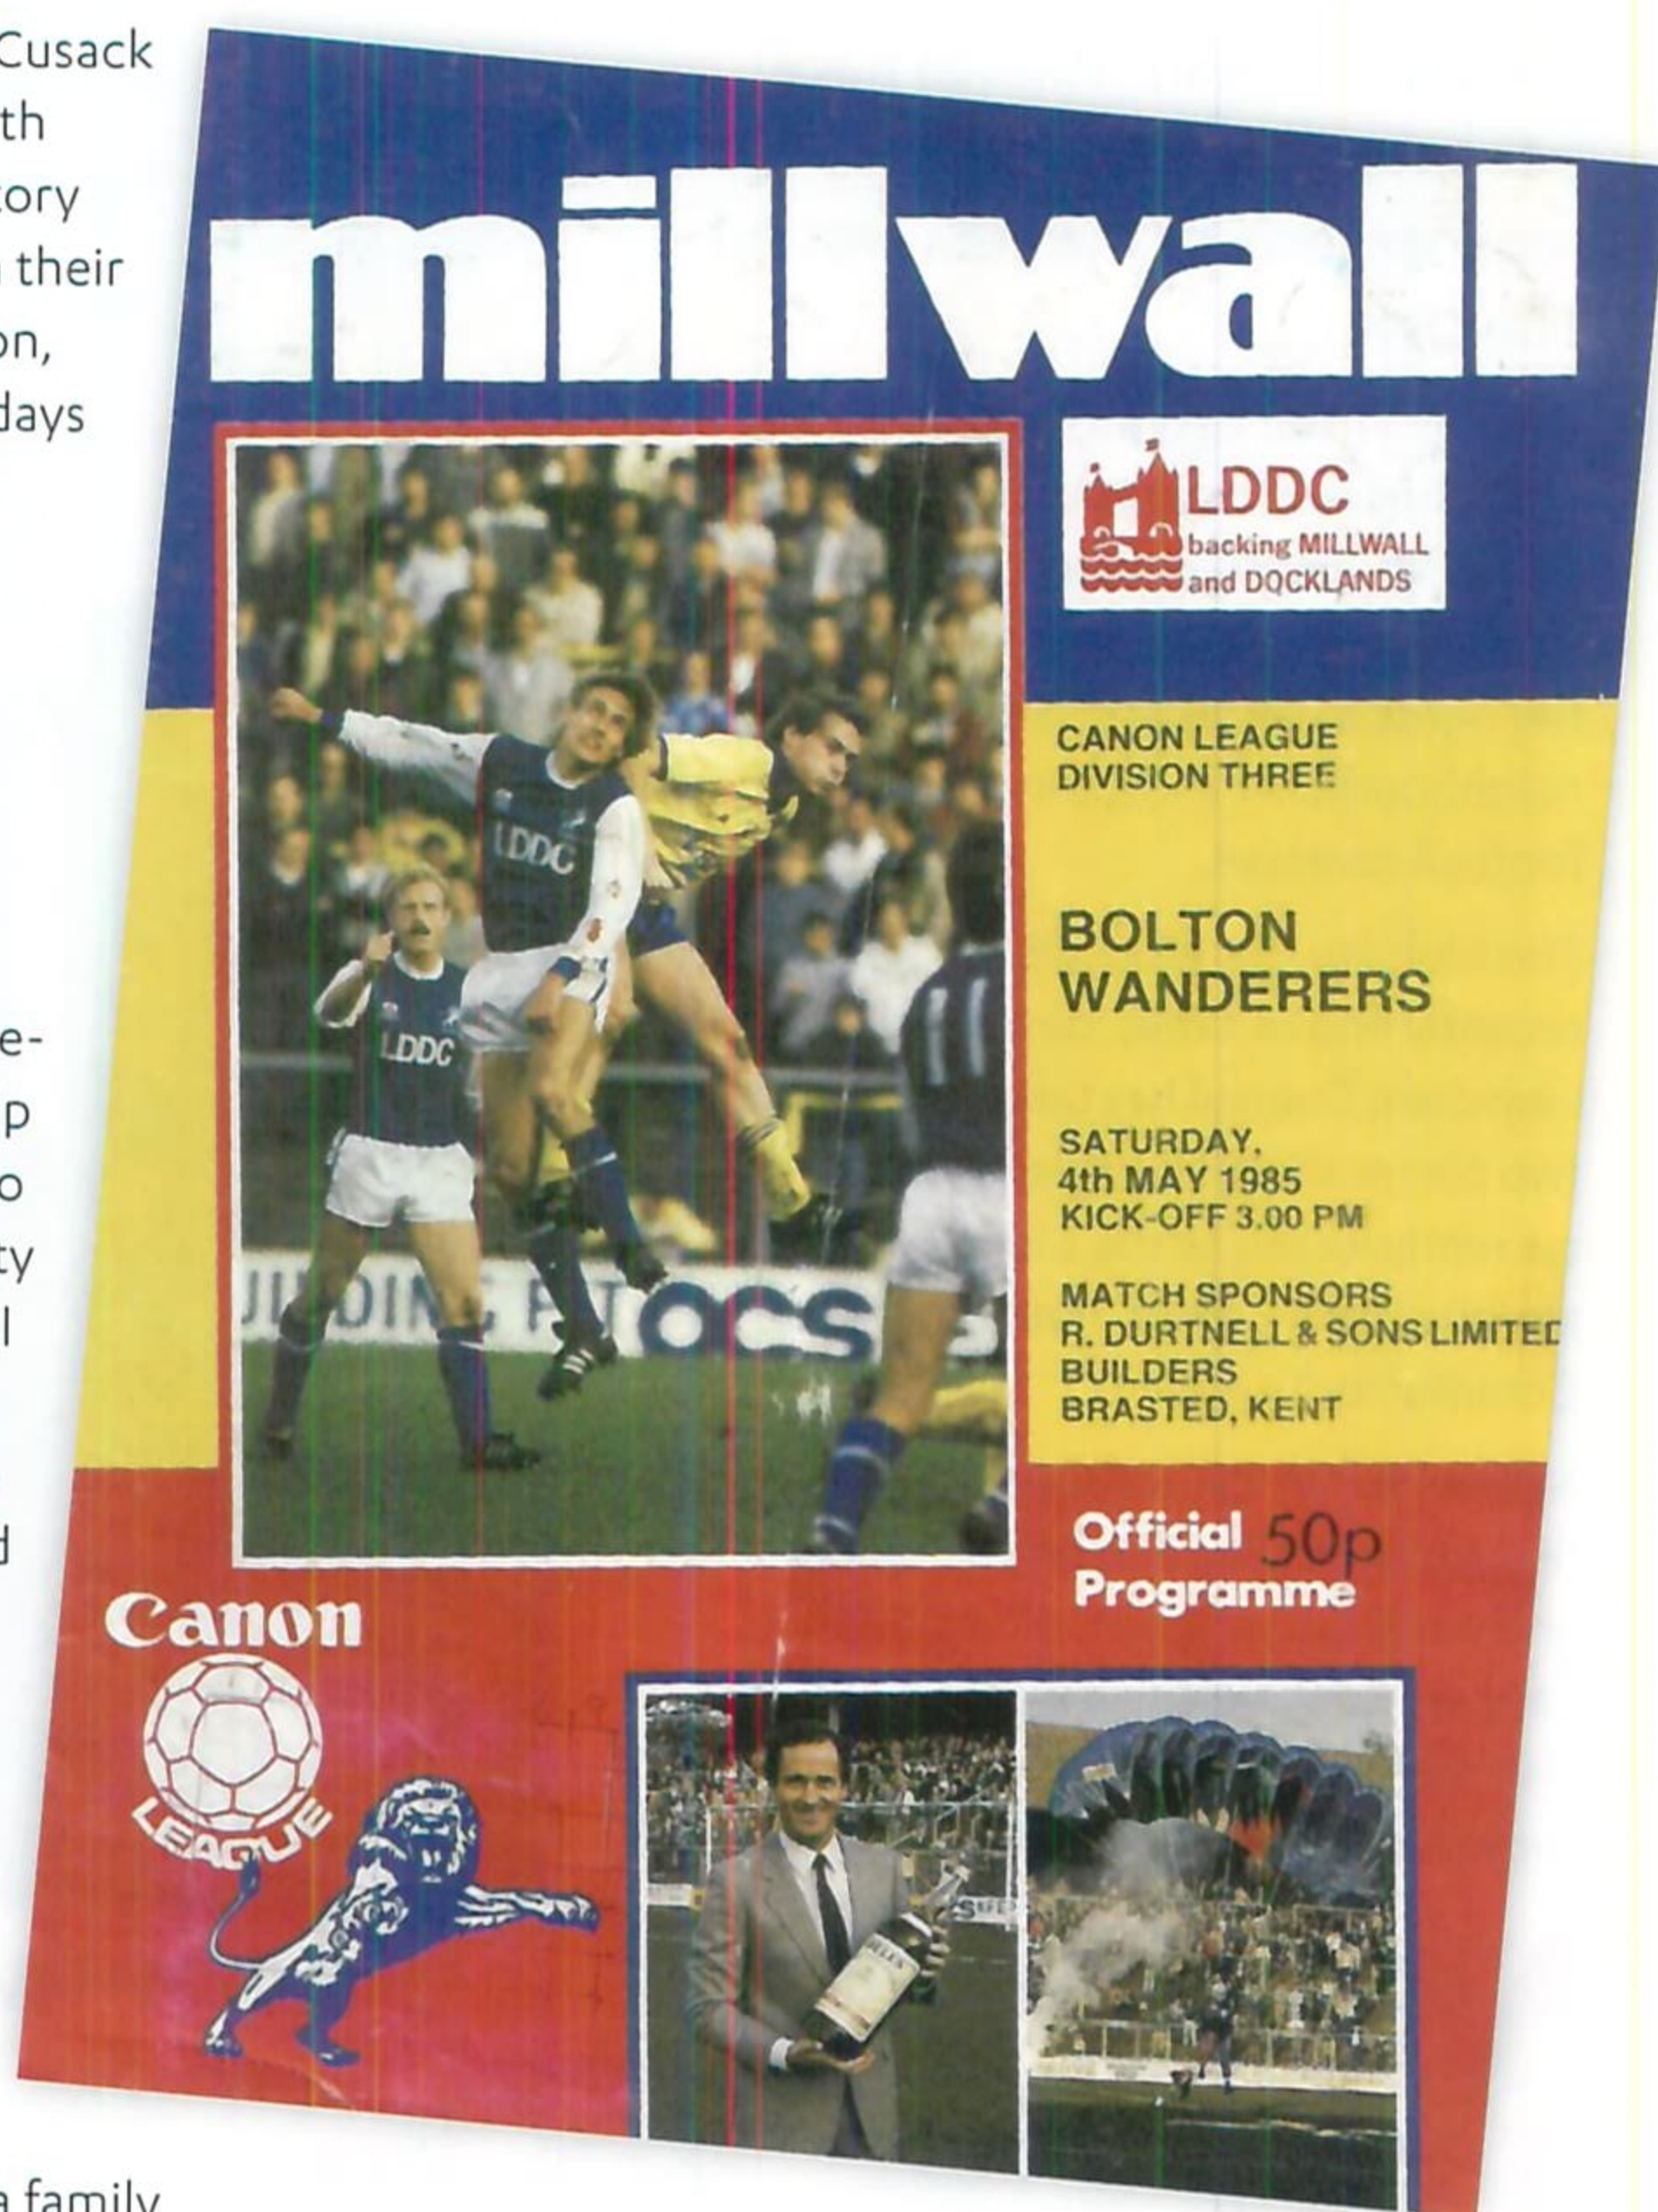

Fortunately, a half-time rocket from manager George Graham was enough to pep The Lions up and they managed to keep Oghani quiet in the second-half. An own goal, another from Lovell and strikes from Millwall's centre-half pairing of Dave Cusack and Lindsey Smith settled a 5-2 victory and set them on their way to promotion, clinched seven days later at home to Plymouth.

Oghani was to travel the north west plying his goal trade and I even heard him mentioned in pre-match pub gossip whilst chatting to Stockport County fans on a Millwall away trip in the 90s. It seems his legend extended beyond scoring on the pitch, something which was celebrated in terrace song, but for taste purposes

I can't repeat in a family publication!

That day, Millwall were able to draw on their reserves of confidence that a promotion run and unbeaten home record provides. As we have found out this season, it's very different when you're battling at the opposite end of the table. At Burnley, the team that Ian Holloway put out was probably no different in terms of quality than the Millwall side that cruised to a 3-0 win at the same venue two seasons ago. But as we've already discovered this season, Burnley's side has the same resilience as their manager Sean Dyche and an unbeaten run of 19 home games gave them the belief after we took the lead to quickly get back into the game, whilst for us, losing the lead after just 90 seconds of taking it clearly knocked the team's already fragile confidence.

There's an old saying that's probably very apt to our situation right now: "It is better to live for one day as a Lion than a hundred years as a lamb". The best way to deal with a knock is to get straight up and go again, no hiding, not stopping until there is nothing more to play for. We certainly have the manager and fans who share those values too. Let's hope for a confidence-boosting victory today – without the half-time head start for the visitors.

Come on you Lions!

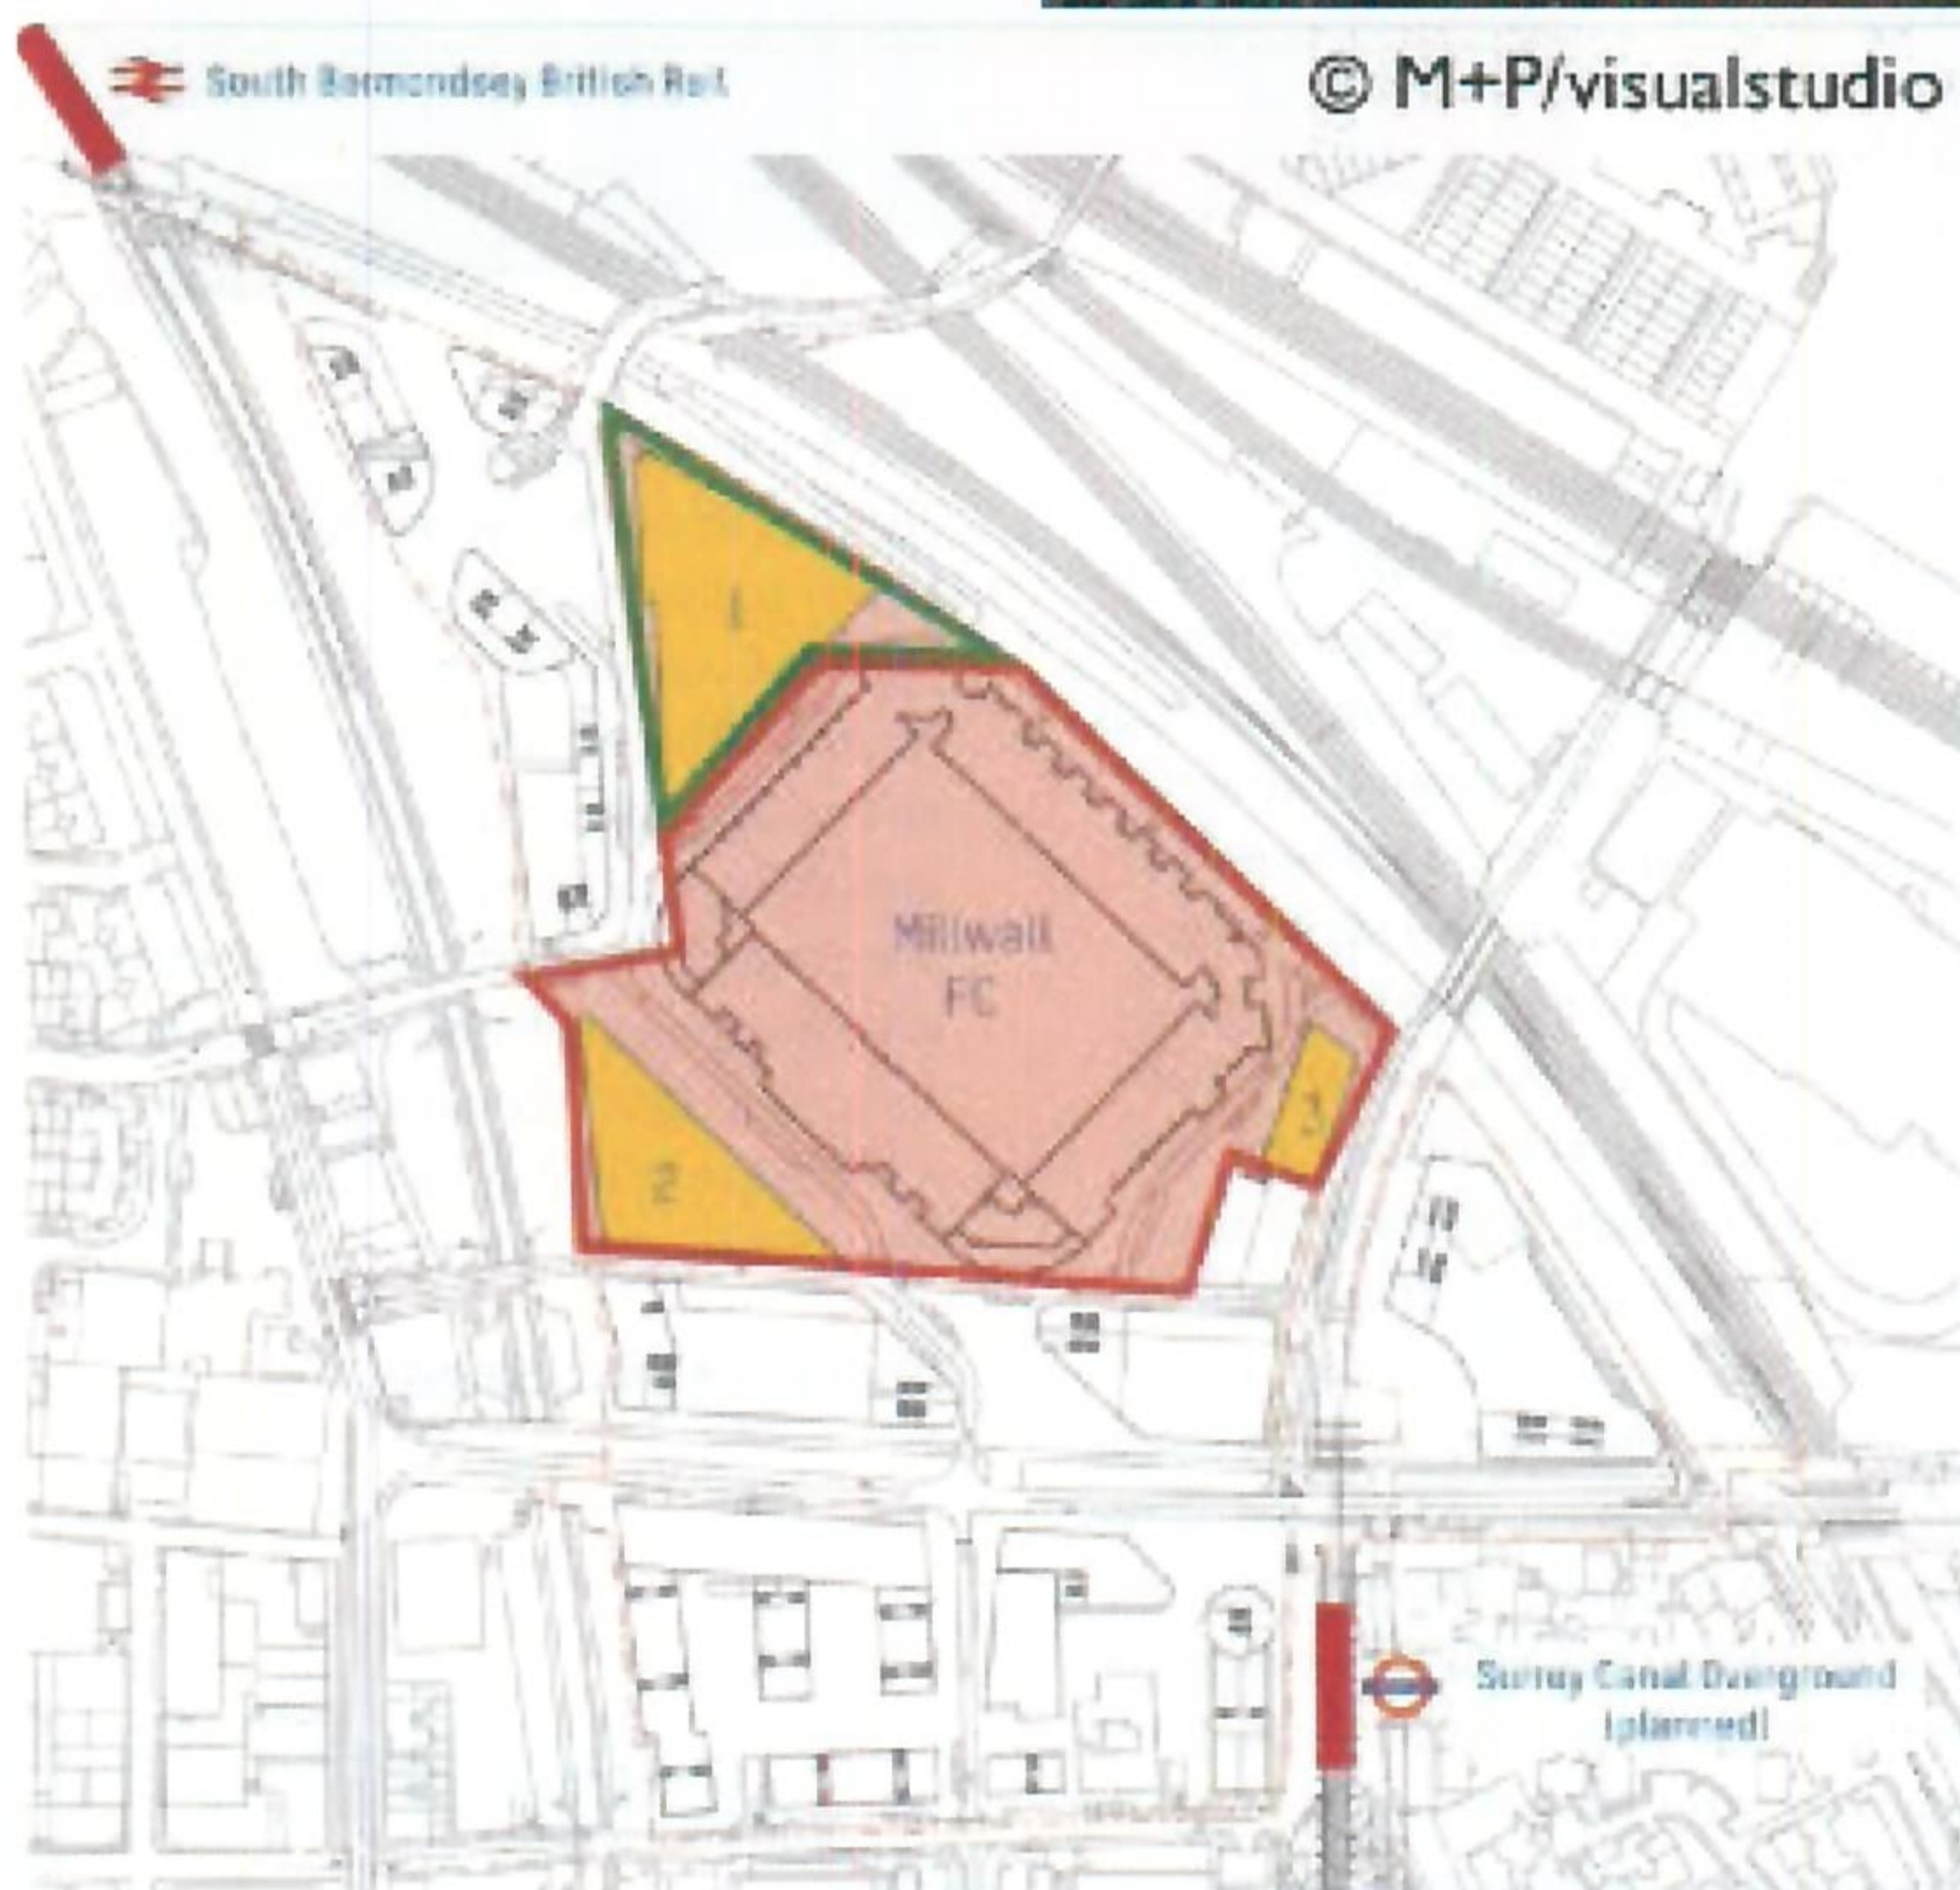

Millwall reveals ambitious plans for local regeneration

For several years Millwall have been working towards the regeneration of the area around The Den.

There is a need to bring stability to the Club's financial position as Millwall make significant financial losses, and long-term survival at The Den depends on securing the rights to develop the immediate neighbourhood and generate non-football revenues.

The Club are therefore disappointed to recently find out that, despite its protests, Lewisham Council has taken steps to sell two pieces of adjoining land, which are currently leased to the Club, to Renewal, and the Lions Centre, home of the Millwall Community Trust.

Millwall wants its football club to be at the heart of a thriving and bright community, and want to play a part in making that happen. Long before it was revealed that the Council has taken steps to sell these bits of lands to Renewal, the Club commissioned a top architect to draw up ambitious plans for the development of three zones immediately adjoining The Den.

The Club's plans were in keeping with the overall scheme for the area, hence the disappointment and anger at the Council's plans. The plans, which can be seen here, were presented to the Council last year.

This year is the Club's 21st at The Den, and it is due for a facelift to make it look fresh and new again. The plans presented to the Council include the entire site: the stadium itself, the car parks and the Lions Centre.

The Club's plans are split into three, for each zone, and are detailed here.

Zone 1 - Bolina East

Millwall wishes to develop the the current Lions Centre site to create affordable housing, student accommodation, retail space and offices.

Zone 2 - Stadium Avenue

On the site of the car park, the Club wishes to develop a sleek new hotel and conference centre with further retail space. A major chain of hotel operators has already indicated its interest in this part of Millwall’s project.

Zone 3 - Senegal Way

Pictured is the planned new site for the Millwall Community Trust, established 29 years ago. It will be relocated to a state of the art building with better facilities and more space, enabling it to do even more than it does now, particularly for young people in the community.

Over the last 28 years, 20,000 people have benefitted from the Trust’s work each year, and it is recognised for its generous, active and effective participation within the communities of Lewisham and Southwark. The Club remains as committed to it today as it was when it was first set up in 1985, and securing the Trust’s future in better premises has been a key consideration in Millwall’s thinking throughout production of these plans.

Show your support

More than 3,000 people have already signed the fans’ Defend our Den petition to get Lewisham Council to halt the sale of land and consider the Club’s plans.

Fan on the Board Pete Garston has been inundated with calls and emails from people who can’t understand why a Club that has done so much for the community is getting such a raw deal from the Council.

It is important to keep the issue in the public eye, and that’s why Garston this week visited Lewisham Council to hand over a Valentine’s Day card urging them to get back round the negotiating table with Millwall.

You can show your support and sign the official petition by visiting www.defendourden.com

Fordey's Top Five

Millwall keeper David Forde recently selected his top five Championship players for Prostate Cancer UK. Do you agree with the players he has picked? Head to Twitter and tweet us your top five @MillwallFC

Jordan Rhodes

Rhodes is probably one of the most natural finishers in the country, let alone the Championship. He has scored goals wherever he's been, and it was a surprise to many that Ipswich let him go for a relatively small fee when he was a youngster there. At Huddersfield he went from strength to strength and helped them get into the Championship, and despite having the pressure of playing with a big-money tag over him, he continues to score almost every week for Blackburn.

Aaron Cresswell

Cresswell has set up the joint highest amount of goals in the Championship so far this season, which is great going for a left-back. You could say that Ipswich took a gamble on him when they signed him from Tranmere, but what a buy he has turned out to be. At 24 Cresswell still has room for improvement, but he's already great going forward and I'm sure Mick McCarthy has made him work on the defensive side of his game. It wouldn't surprise me to see a Premier League move soon.

Anthony Knockaert

We've come up against Knockaert twice this season and he was probably the best player on the park in both games. It took some great work from their scouting team to find a player of his ability and bring him to the club from France. He can play on either flank and behind the striker, is quick, can score goals and has a brilliant left foot. Leicester have got some really good players so it's no surprise to see them top of the League, but Knockaert is probably the best of the lot.

Danny Ings

It's hard to believe that Ings is still only 21 because it seems as if he has been around for a long time. He started his career well at Bournemouth but was unlucky with a few injuries when he signed for Burnley. But this season, under Sean Dyche, he's become one of the best strikers in the League. Burnley's challenge is trying to hold on to him long-term because he's bound to be linked with Premier League clubs if he keeps scoring as many goals as he is at the moment.

Craig Bryson

I was really impressed with Bryson when Derby came to The Den earlier in the season. They beat us 5-1, and Bryson got a hat-trick, all of which were brilliant strikes. He's added goals to his game this year and has really improved as a midfielder under Nigel Clough and now Steve McClaren. At 27, he's probably approaching his prime, so it will be great for Derby if they can keep hold of him for a few more years. For me, he's probably been the best midfielder in the League this season.

News from The Den

Den to host international friendly

Millwall are set to stage an international friendly between Australia and Ecuador on Wednesday 5th March (kick-off 8pm).

The game is the first time the two countries, who are both taking part in this summer's World Cup, have met.

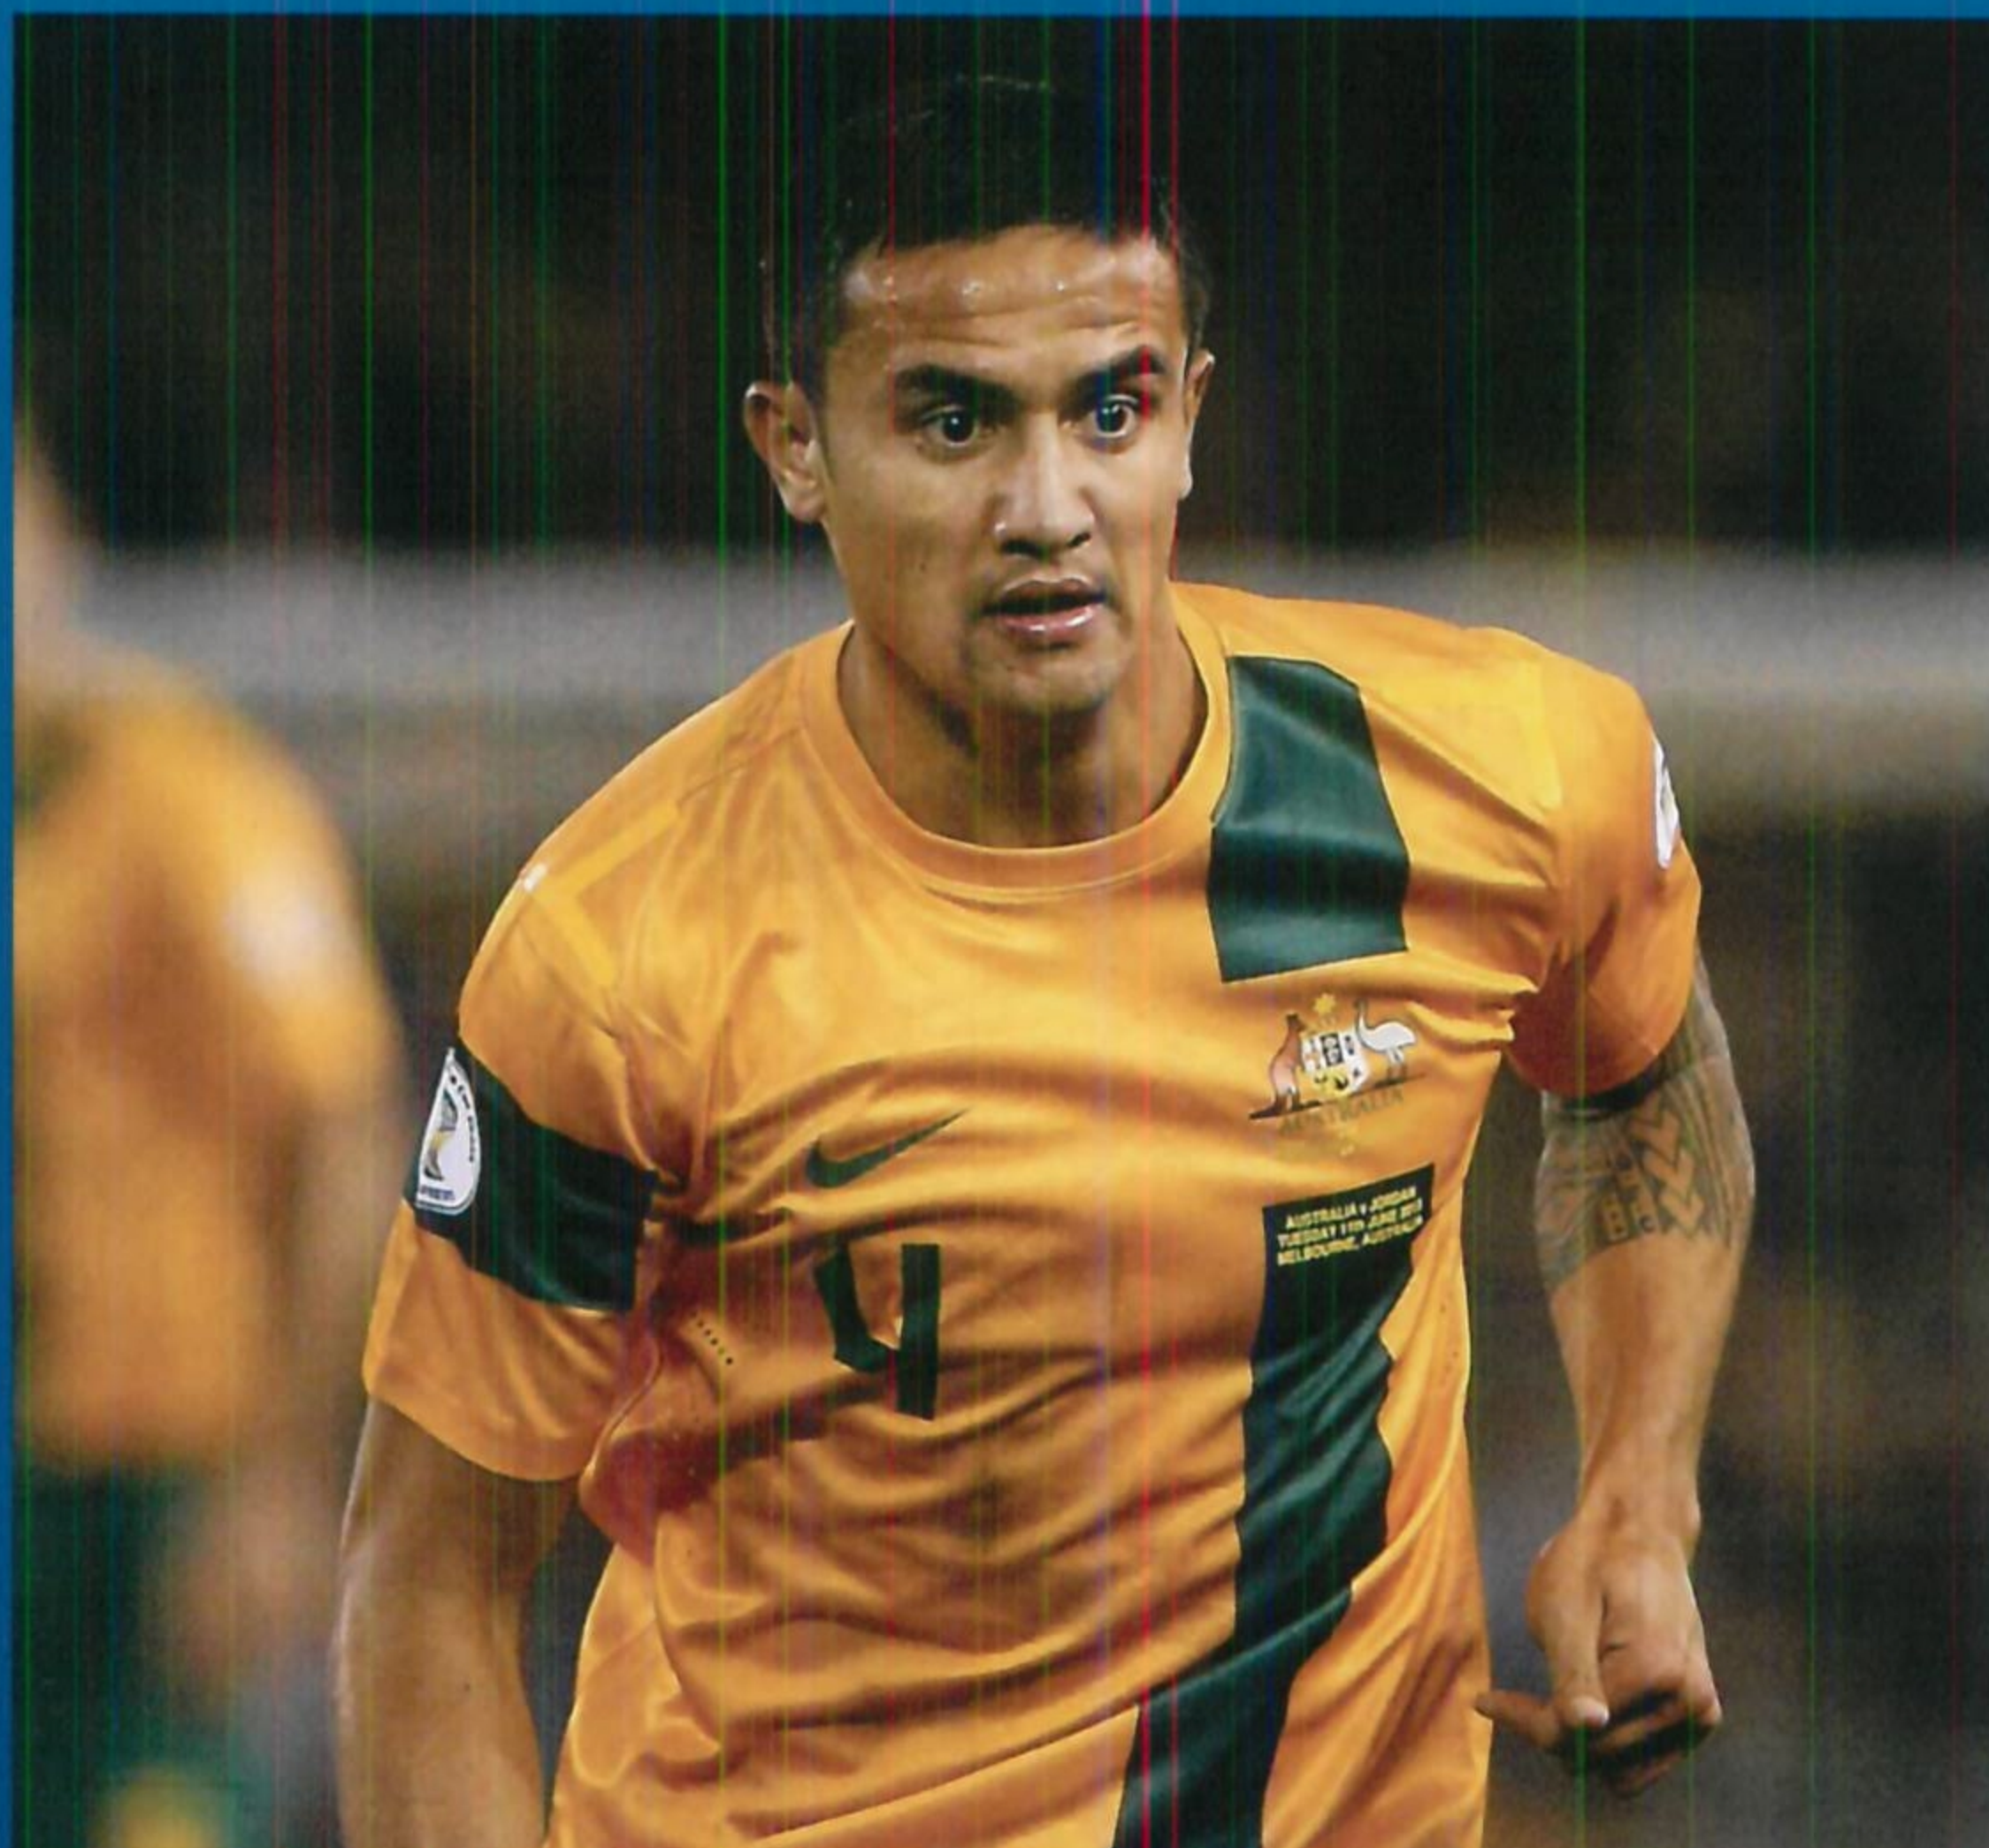

The Den holds significance for Socceroos past and present, with ex-internationals Kevin Muscat, Dave Mitchell and Jason Van Blerk all having played for Millwall, whilst former Lions Tim Cahill and Lucas Neill, both still featuring regularly for their country, will hope to line-up at their old home ground. Of Millwall's current squad, Shane Lowry and Scott McDonald both have a chance of being included in the squad to face the South American side.

Ecuador are currently 23rd in FIFA's World Rankings and will face France, Honduras and Switzerland at the World Cup after finishing fourth in the final round of CONMEBOL, the South American qualifying group.

They boast big name players like Manchester United winger Antonio Valencia and forward Felipe Caicedo, who scored seven goals in nine qualifiers to steer Ecuador to the World Cup. The match represents an ideal opportunity for Australia boss Ange Postecoglou to test his side against South American opposition before the Socceroos take on Chile in their opening match of the World Cup.

The game at The Den will be broadcast live in both countries, and promises to be well attended. Tickets are now on general sale.

Tickets for Dockers Upper are priced at £20 adults, £10 over 60s and £10 U16s. Tickets for Dockers Lower are priced at £20 adults, £5 over 60s and £5 U16s.

Tickets for Australia supporters are in Dockers Upper Blocks 15 and 16, and Dockers Lower Blocks 43 and 44.

Millwall v Brighton & Hove Albion
Saturday 1st March | 3pm

sky BET CHAMPIONSHIP

Next Up at The Den

Editor, Billy Taylor, runs the rule over Brighton & Hove Albion - Millwall's next opponents here at The Den...

Brighton's 2012/13 campaign - one that promised so much - ended in somewhat bizarre circumstances.

Gus Poyet, then Seagulls manager, had led the club to fourth in the Championship, consequently obtaining a coveted Play-Off position and a tie with rivals Crystal Palace.

After a 0-0 draw at Selhurst Park, Brighton were favourites to progress to the Wembley showpiece, but a Wilfried Zaha-inspired Palace side, managed by Ian Holloway, came away from the Amex Stadium with a spot in the Final.

Following that defeat, and amid media reports of a Brighton member of staff making a 'mess' of the Eagles dressing room before half-time, Poyet was suspended by the club and eventually left just over a month later.

It was a controversial end to what had been a fruitful partnership between Poyet and Brighton; the former Chelsea midfielder leading the club from League One to the Championship and, with a brand new stadium, seemingly into an exciting new era.

Oscar Garcia, the former Barcelona midfielder, replaced Poyet the same day his departure was confirmed, and set about preparing his team for another Play-Off push. He added experience to the spine of his side with the signings of Matthew Upson and Keith Andrews, plus some guile in Swansea midfielder Kemy Agustien.

More recently, Garcia covered the loss of midfield talent Liam Bridcutt to Poyet's Sunderland by recruiting Dale Stephens from Charlton and, with his side just a point off 6th spot, will hope a run of results between now and May can help them on their way to Premier League promotion via the Play-Offs.

Inconsistency, however, could prove to be their achilles heel. Last Saturday's win over Doncaster at the Amex was their first for four games, whereas before then they had won seven of 12 games - form good enough to secure a Play-Off spot most seasons.

It is away from the Amex, though - where they have lost only three times - that inconsistency could cost them. Garcia's men have won five of 15 away games so far (drawing and losing the same amount) and scored only 11 goals, a record the Seagulls boss will know needs improving if they are to secure a Play-Off spot.

The talent at Garcia's disposal certainly suggests they can do exactly that, however. In Leonardo Ulloa - a big money signing in January 2013 - they have one of the League's most talented strikers, whilst midfielder Andrew Crofts has chipped in with a very respectable six goals himself so far.

At the back, captain Gordon Greer has been in good form, whilst Upson, though not as quick as he once was, has lost none of the nous that saw him turn out for England.

Stephens brings energy to the centre of the park, and with David Lopez and Kazenga LuaLua - a particular thorn in Millwall's side in recent meetings between the two clubs - supplying the ammo, Ollie's Lions will have to be at their best defensively to secure what would be their first win over The Seagulls in six attempts.

Tickets are now on sale. Turn to page 67 for more information. Follow all the pre-match build-up on Twitter using #MFCvBHAFC

Myatt Gardens on the road to Wembley!

Each season The Football League organises an U11s tournament for junior footballers from schools across the country, with the Final being held at Wembley before the Championship Play-Off showpiece.

Millwall Community held their local stage of the competition on 28th January at St Dunstan's Jubilee Ground in Catford, with 28 teams from local schools across Lewisham and Southwark taking part.

After an exciting day of competitive football, Myatt Gardens Primary from Brockley ran out tournament winners, having won through two group stages and remaining unbeaten through the knock out stages of the tournament.

Myatt Gardens now go through to represent Millwall FC at the South Regional Finals, being held at Reading in March. They will play against schools representing other clubs from the South, with the winner of this stage progressing on to play on the hallowed turf of Wembley Stadium.

Last season, Harris Primary Peckham Park represented Millwall all the way through to the national final at Wembley prior to the Championship Play-Off final between Crystal Palace and Watford, narrowly losing 1-0 on the day.

Dave King, Millwall Community Chief Executive, said: "The tournament was a credit to all the schools who entered. The standard of football played by all of the teams was very high, which resulted in an action packed day.

"Also, it was fantastic to see some of our special needs and disability schools taking part in the competition, and everyone enjoying themselves despite the rain."

Teams that failed to qualify from the first group stage of the competition were given the opportunity to play in a separate 'shield' competition, which was won by Bessemer Grange after a closely fought match with Dalmain Primary. Millwall Community also ran a hardest shot competition on the day, which was won by Crawford Primary School with a winning speed of 47mph.

Our last visit

The Lions narrowly avoided relegation on the final day of last season despite a 1-0 defeat to Derby. Connor Sammon struck the winning goal with five minutes to go, but results elsewhere secured Millwall's Championship safety.

Famous win

A hat-trick from Barry Hayles secured a comfortable 3-0 victory against Derby on December 28th 2004. The Lions have since gone five games without a win at the home of The Rams.

Millwall 2 - 0 Stoke City

Harris, Cahill

Nine-man Millwall grabbed a deserved victory over promotion-chasing Stoke City thanks to a goal in each half from Neil Harris and Tim Cahill.

Referee Rob Styles was at the heart of controversy just minutes into the game, dismissing Bobby Bowry and booking both Cahill and Harris.

The early set-back galvanised the hosts, however, and Australian Lucas Neill, a constant threat, set up Millwall's first meaningful attack with a pinpoint pass to Harris who saw a stinging effort saved by Stoke keeper Carl Muggleton.

Eight minutes later, Harris' persistence caused City's defence to concede a corner which they made a mess of, allowing the striker all the time in the world to wrap his foot around the ball and open the scoring.

Millwall, with 10 men, could have been forgiven for shutting up shop, but continued to go at the visitors. Steven Reid dropped into Bowry's vacant position, and he headed a Harris cross just wide soon after Neill saw a 20-yard strike well held by Muggleton.

The Lions continued their dominance after the interval, and with Stoke barely able to muster so much as a shot on target at the other end, the hosts doubled their advantage in the 64th minute when Cahill leapt above the visiting defence to bury a header past Muggleton from Neill's accurate cross.

With 70 minutes gone, however, The Lions were dealt a blow when referee Styles reduced the side to nine-men, sending off Richard Sadlier for a second bookable offence, much to the bewilderment of The Den faithful.

Sadlier's dismissal provided Stoke with a timely boost, but the remaining 20 minutes wasn't the backs-against-the-wall scenario you would have envisaged.

Instead, Paul Ifill, a 79th-minute substitute for Harris, helped to nearly make it 3-0. Chasing a lost cause, Ifill dispossessed Chris Short and crossed for Cahill, only for the Australian midfielder to shoot straight at the busy Muggleton in what was the last chance of the game for either side.

Millwall: Smith, Lavin, Nethercott, Dolan, Stuart, Reid (Bircham), Bowry, Cahill, Neill, Harris (Ifill), Sadlier

Stoke City: Muggleton, Short, Small (Lightbourne), Collins, Petty, Wood, Keen, Wallace, Crowe, Forsyth, Oldfield

"Good luck from David, James and Hugh Shriver - three generations of Millwall supporters."

To mark our 20th season at The Den, club historian Dave Sullivan relives some of the most memorable matches to have taken place at the home of The Lions in the past two decades...

February 3rd 2001

Millwall 3 - 0 Bristol Rovers

Cahill, Moody, Harris (pen)

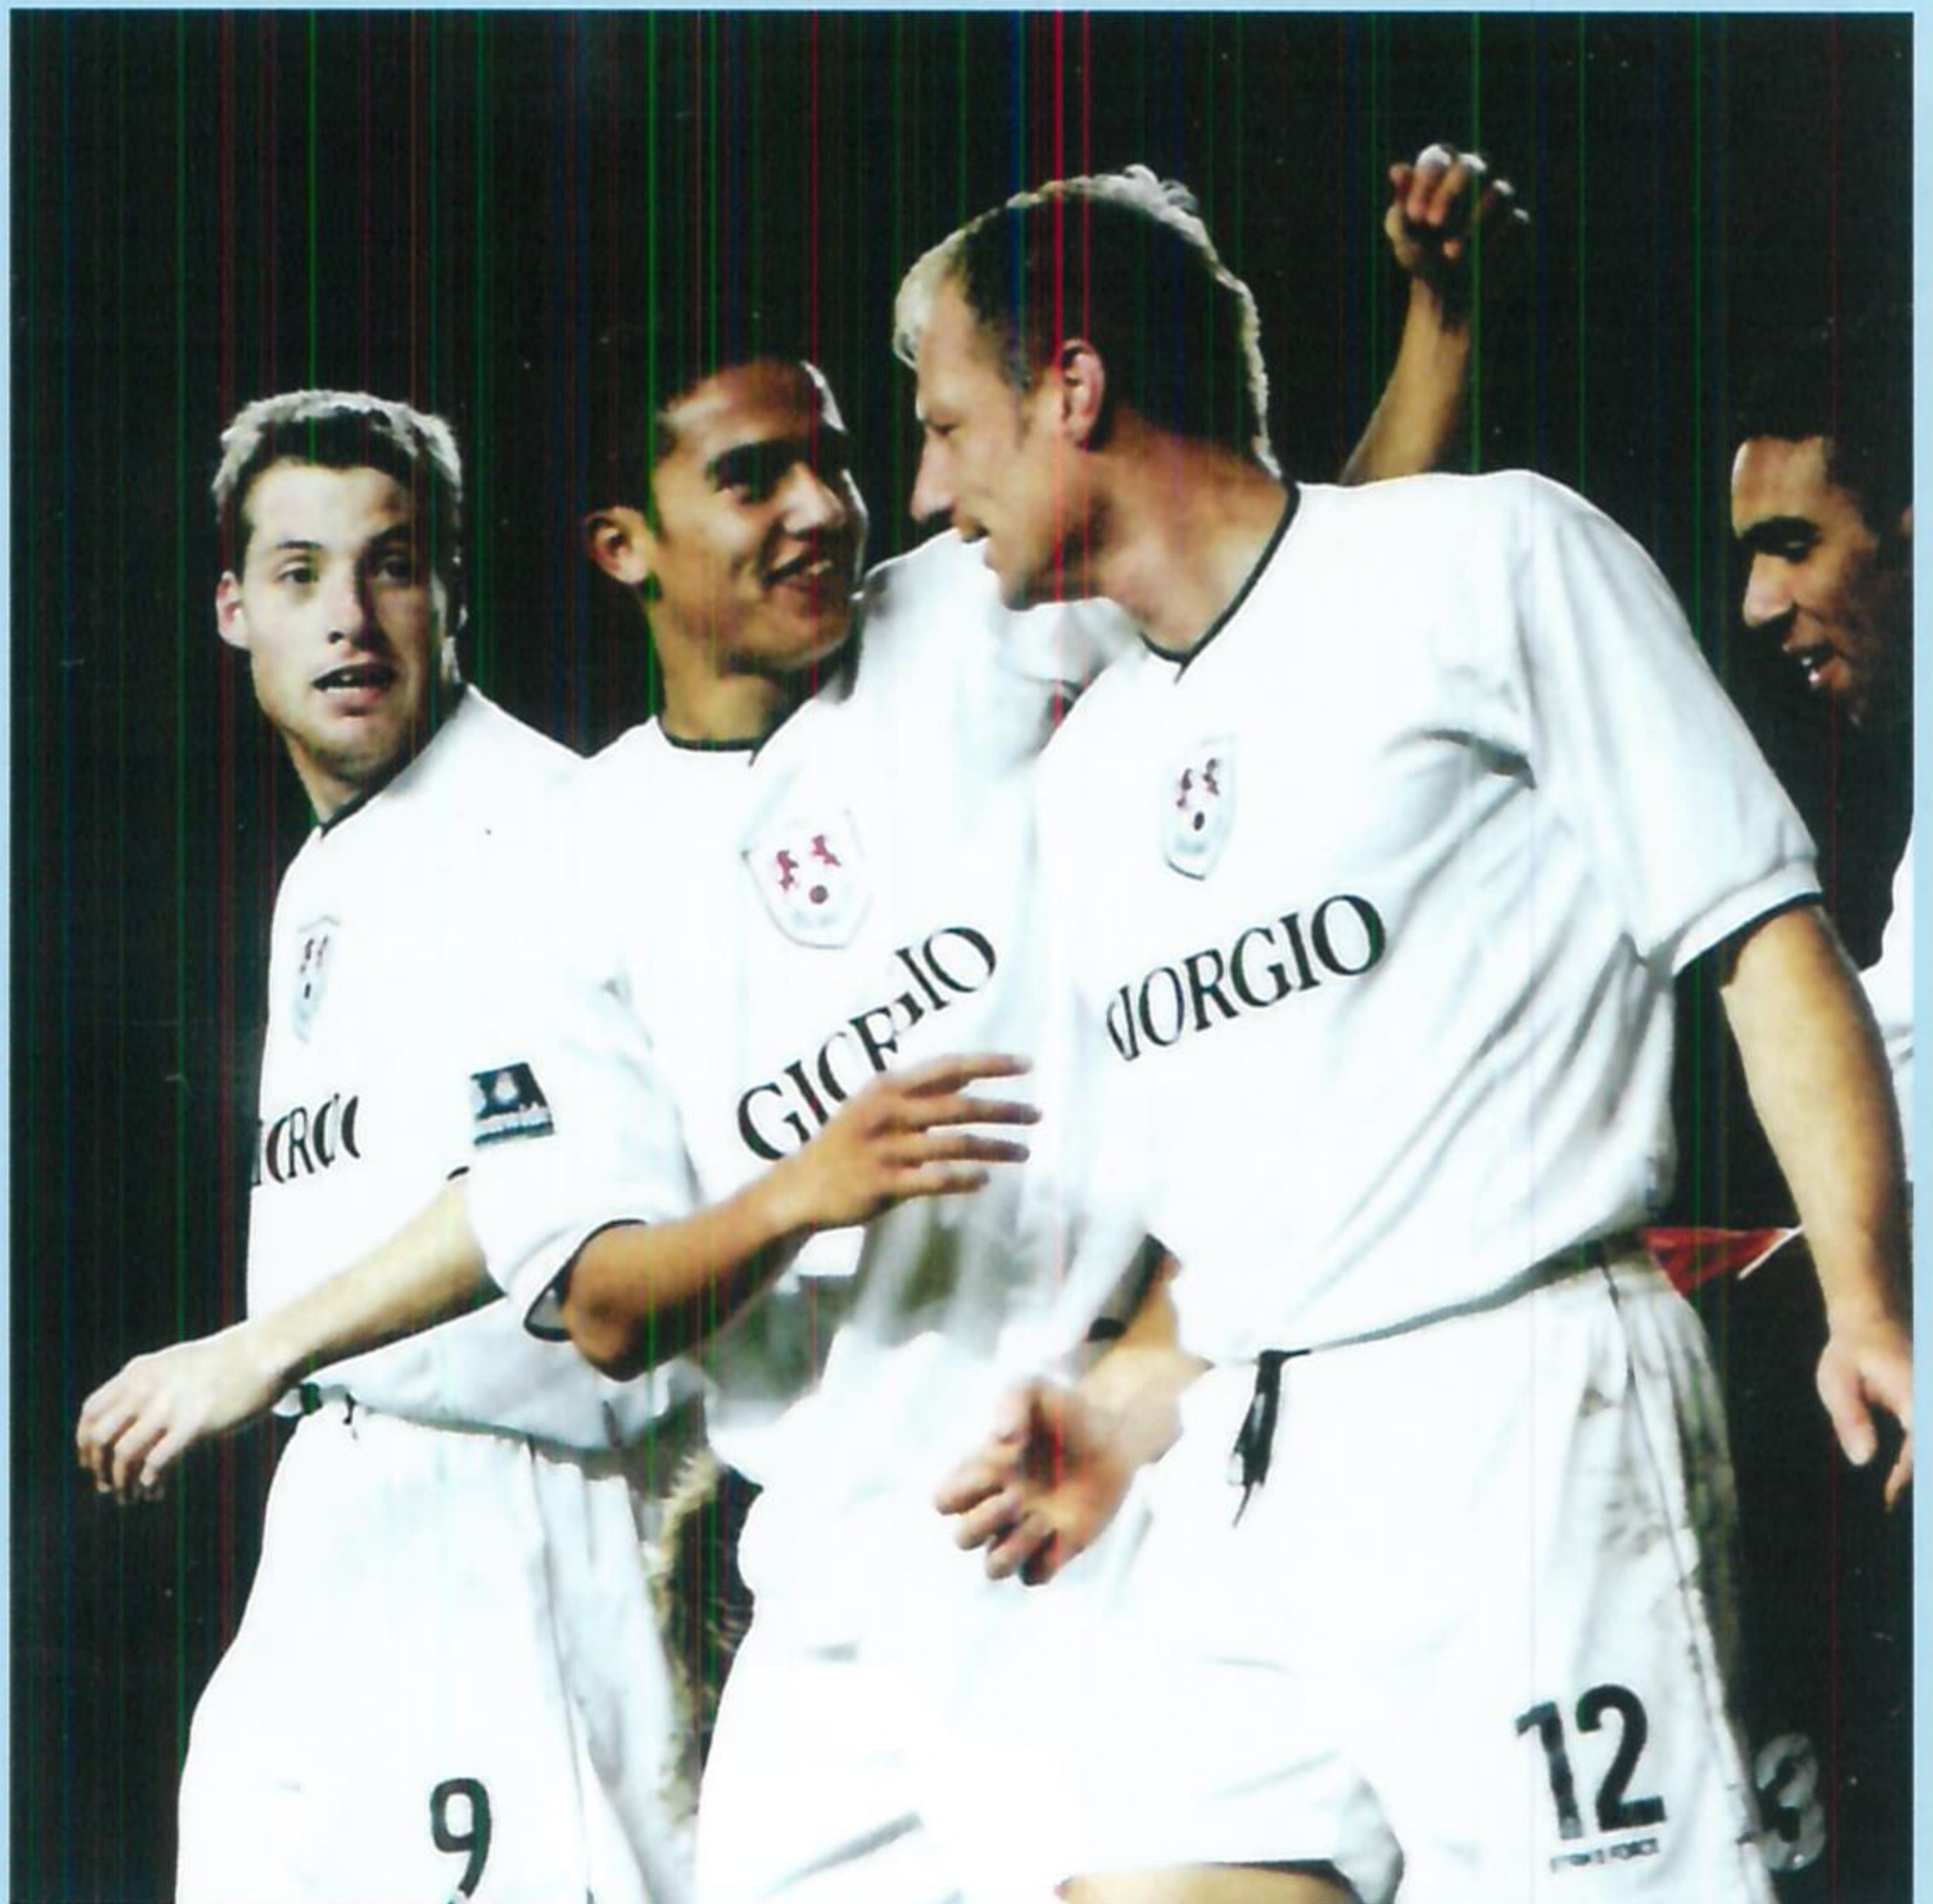

Millwall strengthened their grip on top spot in the division with a comfortable win over struggling Bristol Rovers as both sides ended up with 10 men at The Den.

The managerless Gas were outplayed from the off, and were it not for an inspired display between the sticks by Nick Culkin the scoreline could have been worse for them.

Millwall's start to the game, however, had not gone to plan as defender Joe Dolan was stretchered off with a double fracture of his left leg following an accidental collision with team-mate Robbie Ryan after just 11 minutes.

Undeterred, the hosts set about bombarding the Rovers goal, and in the 33rd-minute took a deserved lead when Paul Ifill played a short corner to Matt Lawrence, whose perfect cross was headed home by Tim Cahill at the far post.

Just three minutes later, though, Cahill was given his marching orders along with Bristol's Dwayne Plummer. After a free-kick was awarded to Millwall on the edge of the area, The Lions' Australian midfielder threw the ball at Plummer, who reacted by slapping Cahill in the face, and the referee had no hesitation in showing straight red cards to both players.

The controversy didn't alter the pattern of the game, and in the second-half Millwall continued to dominate. Harris, a constant thorn in Rovers' side, met another brilliant cross from Lawrence in the 59th minute only to see his header rattle a post, but Paul Moody was on hand to thump home the loose ball and double the home side's advantage.

The most Rovers could muster in response was a Martin Cameron effort well-held by Lions keeper Willy Gueret, before Millwall wrapped up a well-deserved win from the penalty spot in the last minute.

Man-of-the-match Lawrence went on another mazy run towards the Gas goal only to be dispossessed, but the ball fell kindly to Harris who was bundled to the ground by Culkin. The striker picked himself up to slam home the spot-kick and register his 22nd goal of the season.

Millwall: Gueret, Lawrence, Dolan (Nethercott), Dyche, Ryan, Ifill (Reid), Cahill, Neill, Livermore, Harris, Moody (Sadlier)

Bristol Rovers: Culkin, Wilson, Thomson, Foster, Bignot (Cameron), Astafevs, Walters (Ellis), Plummer, Mauge, Hogg, Richards

Dennis came through the youth ranks at Southampton but was released by the club at the age of 18.

Wimbledon, however, saw something special in the pint-sized midfielder, and brought him to Plough Lane in March 1985. Wise helped The Dons to promotion to the top flight in his first season, and soon came the wonderful FA Cup Final upset as against the odds the club overcame favourites Liverpool at Wembley in 1988.

Chelsea signed Wise for £1.6m in the summer of 1990, and while at Stamford Bridge he picked up more FA Cup winners medals, as well as one in the League Cup. Such was his influence with The Blues, Wise was appointed club captain and went on to play 446 games in an 11-year stint with the West London side.

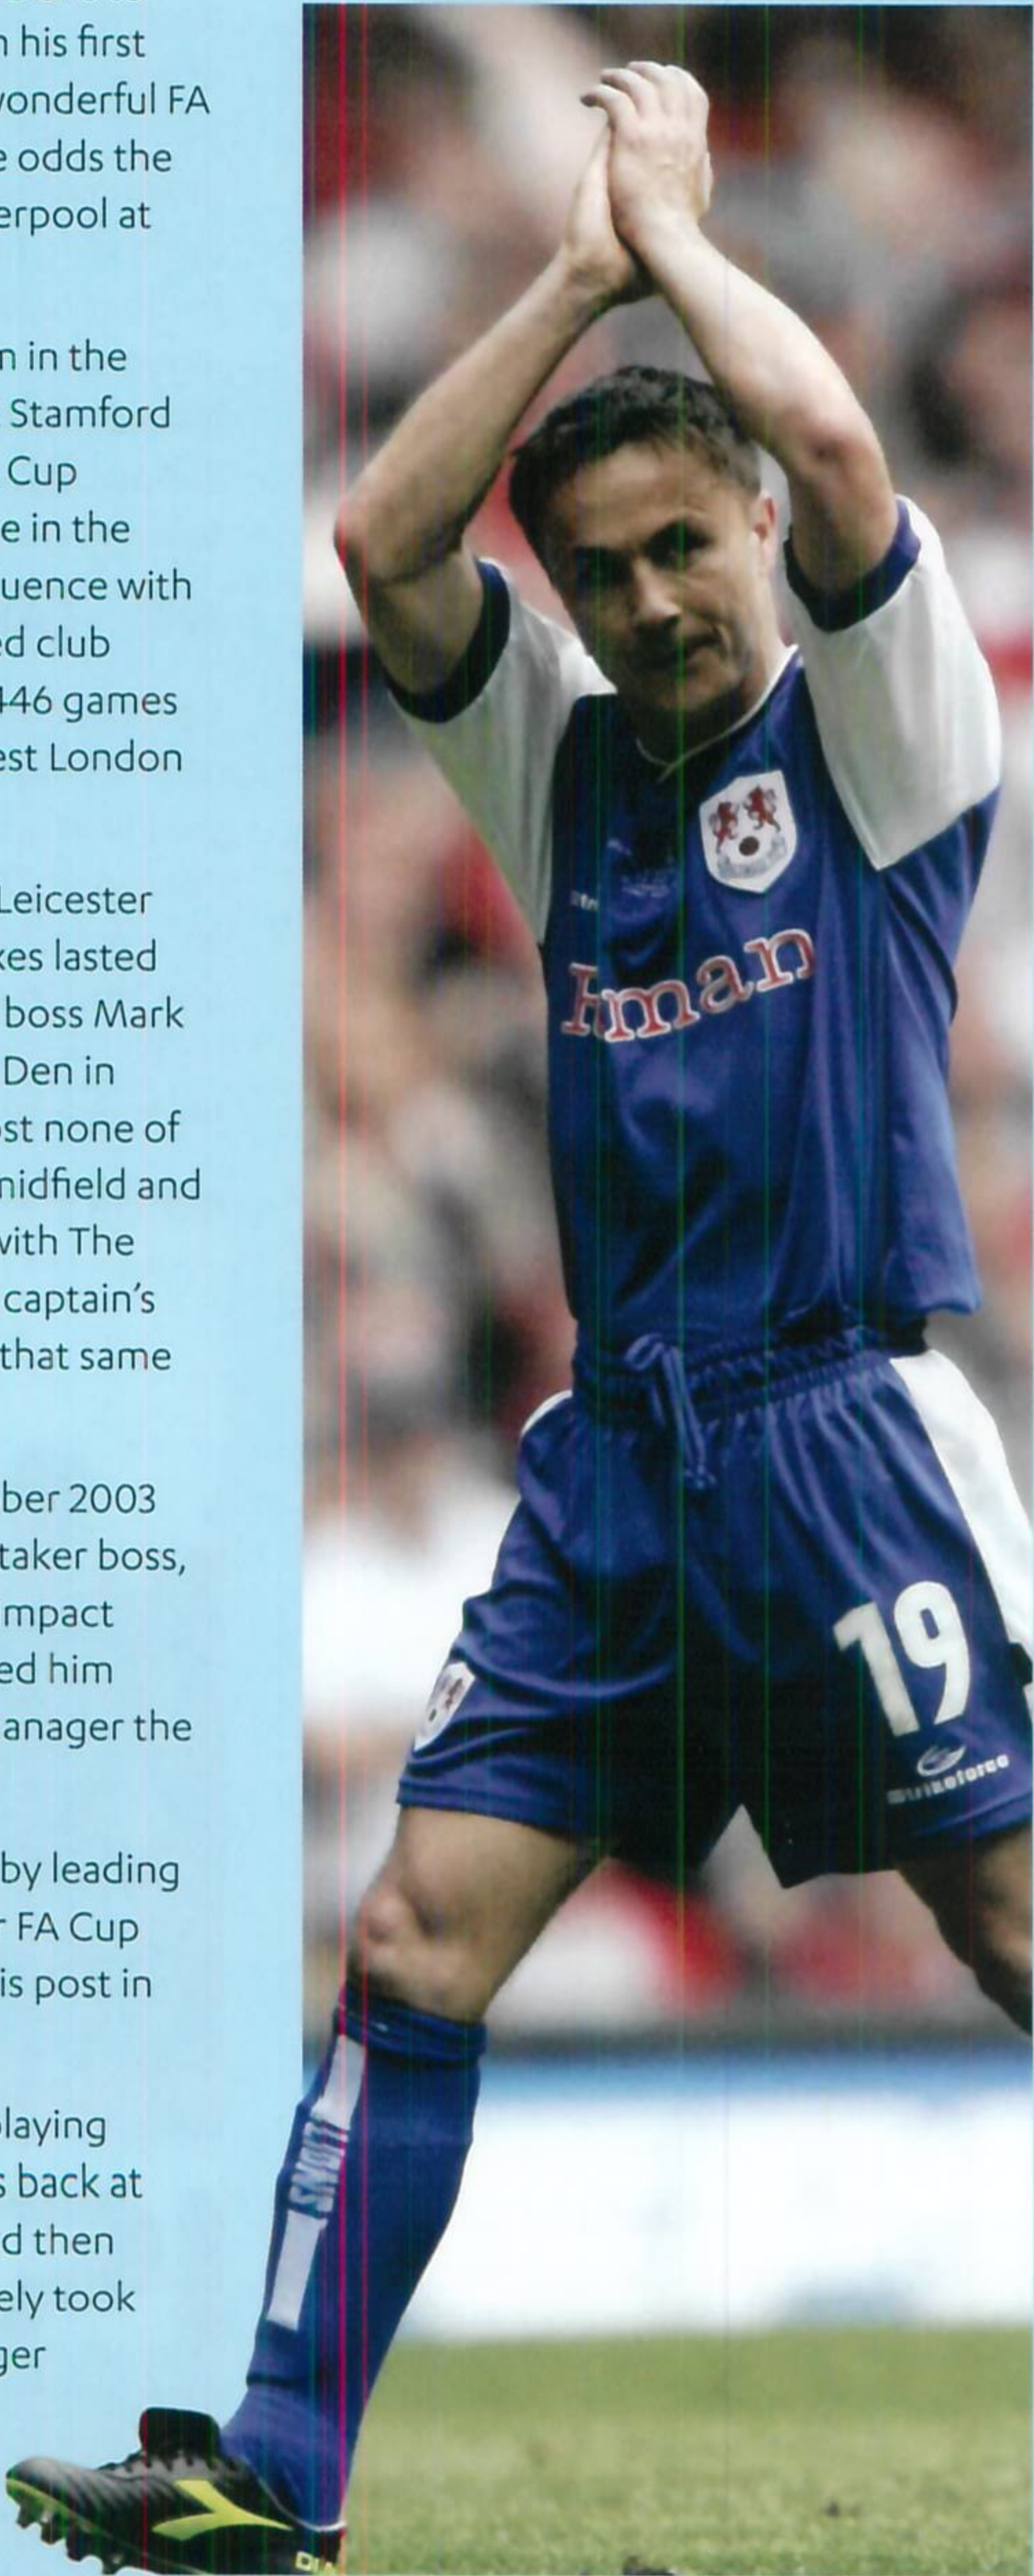

His next career move was to Leicester City, but his stay with The Foxes lasted just over year before Millwall boss Mark McGhee brought him to The Den in September 2002. Wise had lost none of his prowess in the centre of midfield and made an instant impression with The Lions, first taking hold of the captain's armband towards the end of that same 2002/3 season.

McGhee left the club in October 2003 with Wise taking over as caretaker boss, and such was his short-term impact in the hot seat the club handed him full-time control as player/ manager the following month.

Wise created Millwall history by leading his side to the club's first ever FA Cup Final before resigning from his post in May 2005.

The midfielder retired from playing in May 2006 after short spells back at former club Southampton and then Coventry City, and immediately took over as Swindon Town manager alongside former Chelsea team-mate Gus Poyet just four months later.

He then managed Leeds United, a role he held for just under 16 months before joining Newcastle United as an advisor to the club's Board on football matters. Wise left St James Park in April 2009.

1993-2013
20 YEARS
AT THE DEN

Football historian Leigh Edwards selects headline stories from this month over 20 years at our current home

Diary of The Den

1994 – RETURN OF A LEGEND

Ex-England B international midfielder Terry Hurlock rejoined Millwall from Southampton initially on trial in February 1994. The tough-tackling favourite had joined The Lions from Reading for £95,000 in February 1987 and starred in the 1987/88 Second Division title triumph, netting eight goals in 103 League games before being sold to Glasgow Rangers for £325,000 in August 1990. Terry quickly earned a short-term contract back at Millwall and made his second debut in a 1-1 draw at Southend United. Sent-off after just 11 minutes of his homecoming in the televised 0-0 draw with Leicester City, he played a further 13 League games, joining Fulham in July 1994.

1995 – A KICK UP THE R'S

Millwall were unlucky to lose 1-0 at QPR in the FA Cup Fifth Round on 18th February 1995. The Lions had defeated top-flight Arsenal and Chelsea after replays en route but the tie at Loftus Road was a messy affair and something of an anti-climax. Andy Roberts hit a post in the second-half as Millwall defended resolutely once again and seemed to have done enough to earn another replay. But right at the death an innocuous looking cross struck defender Damien Webber on the arm and Clive Wilson duly scored from the harshly awarded penalty.

1996 – CANARIES SILENCED

Goals by Bobby Bowry and Uwe Fuchs gave Millwall a 2-1 First Division win over Norwich City at The Den on 24th February 1996. Some bizarre defending let in Mike Milligan to claw a goal back and The Lions had to dig deep for victory in a match that saw an amazing nine-and-a-half minutes of injury-time played. It was Millwall's first win under new manager Jimmy Nicholl and brought some much-needed relief after just one victory in the previous 16 League games. Defender Gerard Lavin had not been on the winning side in 12 appearances since joining Millwall from Watford in November. The Lions won only two of their final 13 matches that season.

1997 – CALL FOR THE DOC

Former boss John Docherty returned as Millwall's manager in February 1997, with David Kemp and Keith Stevens assisting in a coaching capacity. The Doc had managed Brentford and Cambridge United before taking charge of Millwall in July 1986, plotting the 1987/88 Second Division title triumph and remaining at The Den until sacked in March 1990. His return came in the wake of Jimmy Nicholl's departure in a major cost-cutting exercise as Millwall were in administration. The effect was immediate as The Lions beat Rotherham United 2-0 and gained 13 points from the first 15 under Docherty but a slump followed and he resigned two months later.

2000 – MILLWALL GO CONTINENTAL

Belgian winger Christophe Kinet joined Millwall from French side Strasbourg for £75,000 in February 2000. Signed by the management duo of Keith Stevens and Alan McLeary, he made his debut as a substitute in the 3-1 victory at home to AFC Bournemouth but missed the closing weeks of the season through injury as The Lions qualified for the Second Division Play-Offs. Christophe was destined to help Millwall win the Second Division title in 2000/1 and reach the First Division Play-Offs in 2001/2. Regularly featuring as a substitute, he netted seven goals in 67 League outings while at The Den before returning to his native country with Bruxelles in April 2003.

2001 – LORDS OF THE MANOR

Paul Moody scored against his former club as leaders Millwall gained a 2-0 Second Division win over Oxford United at the Manor Ground on 24th February 2001. It was Millwall's last visit to the Manor Ground before Oxford moved to the Kassam Stadium and The Lions faced a team under the guidance of former Millwall pair David Kemp and Alan McLeary. Lions keeper Willy Gueret had set a new club record with four consecutive clean sheets following his debut. Eleven points out of 15 and an unbeaten run landed Mark McGhee the Second Division 'Manager of the Month' award for February. The Lions were seven points clear at the top of the table.

2010 – CANARIES PUT TO FLIGHT

Goals by Tony Craig and Neil Harris gave Millwall a 2-1 League One victory over leaders Norwich City at The Den on 6th February 2010. The Canaries had won their previous eight games and dropped just four points in a 16-match unbeaten run, including a 2-0 win at home to Millwall on Boxing Day. Norwich were destined to remain top of the table and won the League One title, finishing nine points ahead of runners-up Leeds United. The Lions won five successive games and bounced back from a shock 1-0 defeat at Wycombe Wanderers with an 11-match unbeaten run to finish third. Kenny Jackett's side beat Swindon Town 1-0 in the Play-Off Final.

2012 – FEENEY STUNS SAINTS

Substitute Liam Feeney's last-gasp winner gave Millwall a dramatic 3-2 FA Cup Fourth Round replay victory over Southampton at St Mary's Stadium on 7th February 2012. Darius Henderson's late equaliser had given Millwall a 1-1 draw at home to Saints ten days earlier and Liam Trotter fired Kenny Jackett's side ahead in the replay. Goals from Adam Lallana and Rickie Lambert gave Saints the lead but Dany N'Guessan levelled to set up the thrilling finale. Millwall went on to lose 2-0 at home to Bolton Wanderers in the Fifth Round. Saints went on to triumph 3-2 at Millwall in the Championship six weeks later en route to regaining top-flight status.

News from The Den

RIP Bernie

We have recently learned the sad news of the passing of a dear friend of the club, Bernie Sayer.

Bernie was the first team's coach driver for a number of years, driving the team up and down the country, and was extremely proud to have had the honour of taking the squad to 2004's FA Cup Final, making sure they arrived in style.

Bernie was a real character and, to the players, was more than just a driver, as first team coach Neil Harris explains.

"Bernie was an extremely kind, loveable and popular character," he said. "We used to have a great laugh with him, normally at his expense when he found a traffic jam, but he could give it back as well."

Bernie was diagnosed with cancer late in September last year and sadly passed away peacefully on January 28th.

Everybody at the club would like to send their most sincere condolences to Bernie's friends and family.

Donations to the Wisdom Hospice, who looked after Bernie, can be made at <http://tributes.to/bernard-john-sayer>

Millwall support player development scheme

Millwall coaches James Mullane and Paul Palmer have been working with 'Advance Player Development' to help nurture talented local footballers.

Advance Player Development (APD) was created in March 2013 and aims to bridge the gap between grassroots football players and academy footballers by running coaching sessions delivered by some of the best coaches in the area.

Every six weeks APD send different age groups to play in games against counterparts at local professional clubs, and so far 20 players have been invited for trials on the back of good individual displays.

Millwall have supported the idea of APD since its creation, and have recruited several young players to different age groups in the academy, including four who were signed on year-long contracts.

APD's Friday evening football centre takes place at Well Hall, Blackheath Rugby Club in Eltham from 6.30-8pm every week. The scheme are also in the process of organising international tours to Italy and Malta and hope, one day, to discover a future Millwall first team star.

Lionesses Den dream

Having gained promotion to the FA Women's Super League 2, Millwall Lionesses will be playing their home league matches at The Den next season, thanks to the support of Millwall Football Club.

First team manager Alberto Kurti expressed his excitement about the upcoming season, saying:

"The Lionesses and the management can't wait for the season to begin, the buzz about the squad is immense.

"Now with the extra bonus of playing our home games at The Den, the excitement has increased.

"When we played Reading Ladies at the Den last season, the atmosphere was phenomenal, and to be able to play every game there is a dream come true for our young players.

"We would like to express our thanks to the club for all their support of the Lionesses and we look forward to kicking-off the new era at The Den"

Fixtures for the Women's Super League are still awaiting release from the FA, with the Lionesses kicking off their League season on April 16th.

Season tickets are also due to go on sale soon with the launch of the Lionesses new FA website.

Season tickets are priced at £25 for adults and £15 for children whilst Millwall season ticket holders can buy theirs for just £15 and £8 respectively.

Networking Event Success

Over 80 people from local companies were at The Den earlier this month for the first ever Millwall Business networking event.

Those in attendance enjoyed a continental breakfast before hearing from two guests speakers - Commercial Director Alan Williams and Lions legend Les Briley - and were then led on a tour of the stadium.

Such was the success of the breakfast meeting, the club have already confirmed details of the next networking event which will be held here at The Den on Tuesday 11th March between 7.30-9.30am. Millwall Chief Executive Andy Ambler will be speaking to guests on the day, as will a representative from Prostate Cancer UK, the club's principal partner for this 2013/14 season.

If you are a Millwall Business member, entry to next month's event is just £10. Non-members can buy tickets for £15.

Becoming a Millwall Business member entitles you to a range of exclusive benefits, including:

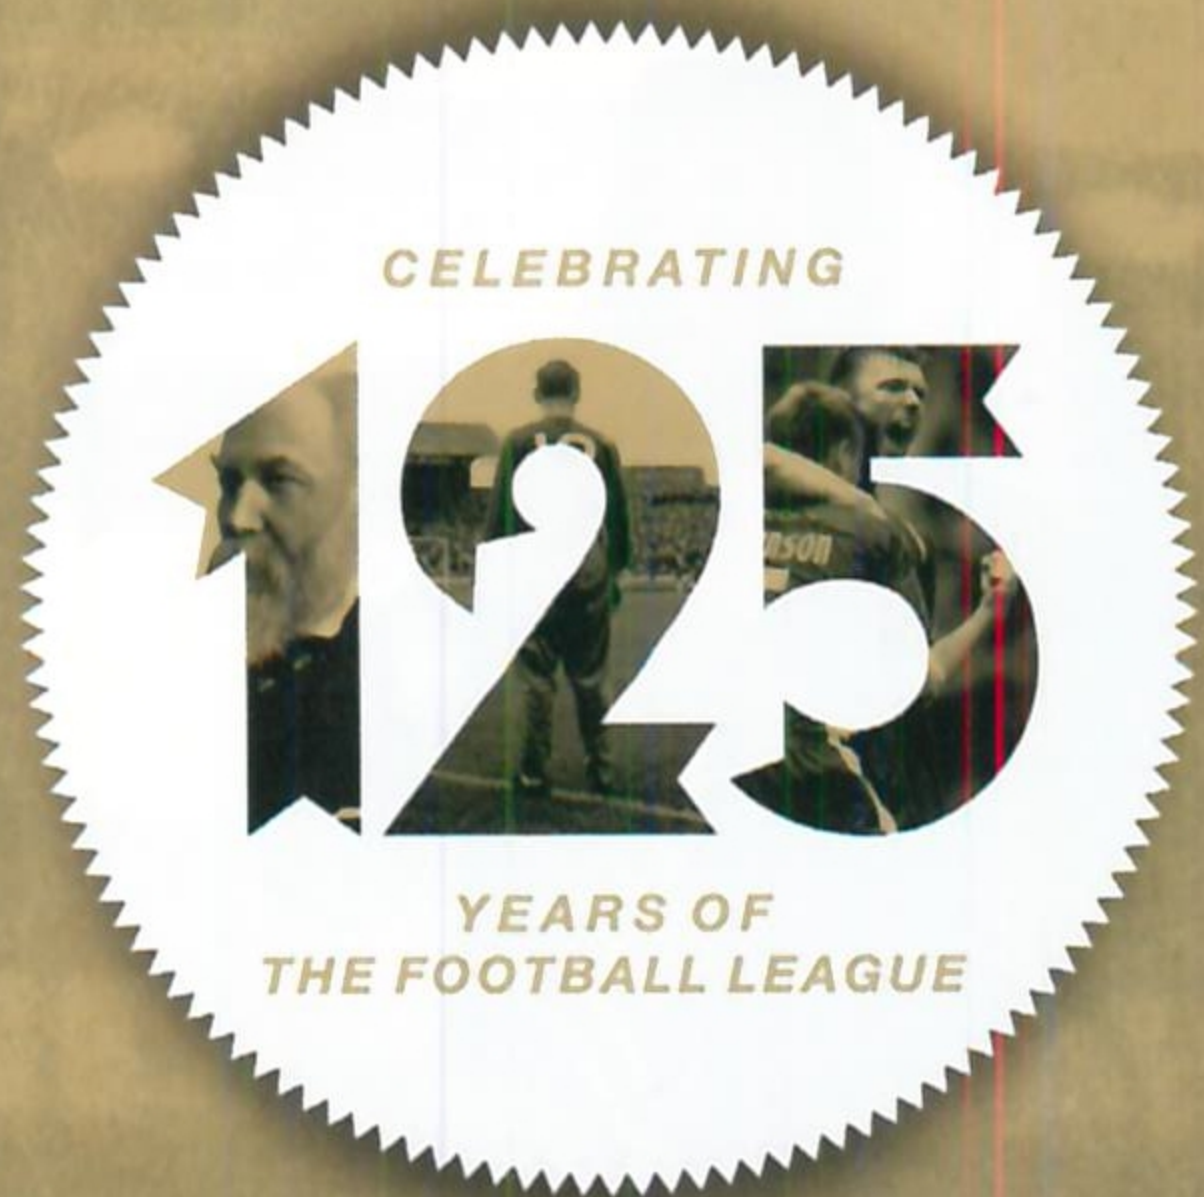

- * Invites to regular networking events with reduced entry prices
- Discounts from Millwall Football Club
- Your company logo displayed on the club's commercial website
- Two complimentary hospitality places at a home game, subject to availability - One free room hire for corporate or non-corporate use

Millwall Business membership costs just £25 per person, per company.

My Millwall

This is the feature where you, the fans, have the chance to reveal all about your life supporting The Lions.

Name: Max Dickson | Age: 58

My earliest Millwall memory is a match against top tier side Fulham in a midweek FA Cup tie in 1964 when we were in the old Fourth Division and played in blue and white stripes. We won 2-0 and there were over 30,000 fans packed into The 'old' Den.

My favourite Lions player of all time is Terry Brisley because he was of my generation, had bundles of enthusiasm for the club in his time with us and had a great rapport with the fans. He exemplified the Millwall spirit and work ethic demanded by supporters with some gritty performances week-in, week-out. And he scored a few goals, too!

My favourite current player is Paul Robinson. When Robbo turned out against Cambridge in the Cup tie early in his career and scored, it was clear then that there would be a new hero in waiting. He's a one-club man, Millwall through and through, and gives 100% every week. To score the goal at Wembley to seal promotion was a captain's job well done!

My matchday routine involves, now that I live in Hampshire, catching a train to London then a tube to Bermondsey before walking to The Den. I then meet up with my son and a few other regulars in the Dockers' Stand. It's always a long day out but I can doze off on the return journey before getting home at around 8.30pm. There's always a few Lions fans on the train back so I'm not the only exile!

My most memorable Millwall moment is....well, there are two. Firstly, Hull in 1988. I seem to recall a long drive up on Easter Monday and an awful game of football, but in the pouring rain Cally slotted home a penalty to win it for us. To win promotion to the top flight was an amazing achievement and I was so glad to witness that piece of history. Secondly, the Semi-Final at Old Trafford in 2004 was a truly remarkable occasion. The number four brought us such good fortune on that day. Apart from the date (04/04/04), Tim Cahill, wearing shirt number four, scored and there were four minutes of added time. You just knew it would be our day!

My dream is to see Millwall simply playing in front of a full house at The Den every home game. The place would absolutely rock!
